TREATY POWER IS ABSOLUTE

Federal Right Upheld in Address by American Bar President.

AS TO STATUS OF FOREIGN CITIZEN

California's Case Supplies Issue at Montreal Convention.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Premier Borden opened the annual meeting of the American Bar association today with an address welcoming the most distinguished body of men ever gathered in Canada. The leading jurists of the United States are here almost without exception and besides them there are some of the most prominent members of the bar in Canada, England and France.

"Treaty Making Power," particularly in its relation to the controversy aroused by the alien land law of California, was the topic of an address delivered by Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, Minn., president of the association. Mr. Kellogg maintained that the federal government had the right to define by treaty the status of a foreign citizen within the states, the places where he may travel, the business in which he may engage and the property he may own, both real and personal, and the disposition of such property after his death.

"If," said Mr. Kellogg, "citizens of Japan have any right to own real estate in California, it is difficult to see how this law takes away such right, because it provides in substance that such aliens may acquire, possess, enjoy and transfer real estate in the manner and to the extent and for the purposes prescribed by any treaty."

Points Out Discrimination.

The California law, he explained, discriminates between aliens eligible and those not eligible to citizenship, permitting the former to possess, enjoy, transmit and inherit real property in the same manner as citizens, and limiting those not eligible to citizenship to the rights extended to them by treaty with the government of the United States.

He said it was understood, however, by the public generally that California claims the right to legislate in respect to land held by aliens, notwithstanding

THINK POLICEMAN ROBBER; RACE 18 MILES TO ESCAPE.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 1.—Motorcycle Policeman Brown chased a couple on another motorcycle, 18 miles last night. When Brown overtook them and began a lecture on the evils of speeding, the man pulled out a pad and wrote: "We are deaf mutes and thought you were a robber."

VICTIMIZED BY FAKE SENSATION

Rumor That Thaw Has Been Shot Gives New York Some Thrills.

VICTIMS OF SWINDLE

New York, Sept. 1.—Thousands of New Yorkers pouring from Beach trains at Brooklyn bridge during the night were victims of a fake sensation when they went down in their pockets for a nickel to buy a "newspaper" across whose front page in black letters three inches high they read: "Harry Thaw shot trying to escape."

The papers sold like wildfire and those who bought received an even greater thrill for their money when they read below the report that Thaw was "killed" and one or more men with him in his dash for liberty were also "killed or injured"—qualified, however, by the statement that the report was unconfirmed.

On close inspection the fake became apparent, as the issue was "volume 1, number 1" of the "Sunday Telegram" printed in Philadelphia, where no regularly established paper of that name is known. The similarity which the name bore to a New York newspaper led to protests to the police and confiscation of about 500 copies which the newsboys then had unsold. It is estimated that over 100,000 copies of the fake newspaper had been sold in cities between Philadelphia and New York, and in this city with a profit of about $2,000 to the perpetrators of the enterprise.

The story was wholly unfounded, Thaw not even having attempted an escape.

GARRISON AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Secretary of War Visits Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—Secretary of War Lindly M. Garrison arrived here this morning for a day of inspection at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Governor Ralston headed a committee of citizens who met the secretary at the train and accompanied him to the post. A committee from the chamber of commerce urged Secretary Garrison to convert the post into a brigade headquarters and asked that a road be built between Indianapolis and Fort Benjamin Harrison. This is the last post to be inspected by Secretary Garrison and he plans to leave for Washington this evening.

USED A "WITCH STICK."

Kansas City Man Finds Water, Though Mains Were Denied Him.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—After five years of effort to persuade the water department of Kansas City, Kas., to extend the mains to his neighborhood, Harry Snedeker resorted to the "witch stick" and found a rushing stream of clear, cold water beneath his back yard. A few days ago Snedeker cut a forked branch from a peach tree. At the spot toward which the fork turned as he held it in his hand while walking in the yard he ordered well diggers to begin operations. Today when a thin stratum of rock was blasted at a depth of twenty-five feet a stream of water five feet deep and two feet wide was uncovered.

Considering Drastic Measures

The reticent Councilman Bauer still refuses to tell what "awful" things he knows about the police department, and the board of safety is considering means of getting him to talk.

Chicago Toilers Make Labor Holiday an Occasion of Real Rest.

STRIKING CHANGE FROM OLD PROGRAM

Wheels of Government at Washington Are Halted —Day Elsewhere.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Labor day was a day of rest to Chicago labor organizations. There were no long hot marches of thousands of union men to parks where in past years they stood for hours listening to lengthy speeches.

According to several labor leaders this was the first Labor day really enjoyed by Chicago workingmen in years. There was no official demonstration by labor but a few unions held meetings in the morning.

Every industry in the city was shut down and all the retail and wholesale stores were closed.

Washington, Sept. 1.—In observance of Labor day in the District of Columbia, virtually all the wheels of the federal government today ceased to revolve. The exceptions were to be found in the senate, where the debate on the

JUDGE A. A. ADAMS QUITS THE BENCH

MOVES TO NEW YORK

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—Judge Andrew A. Adams, of Columbia City, today retired from the appellate court of Indiana and was succeeded by Fred S. Caldwell, of Winchester, appointed by Governor Ralston.

Adams' resignation was delivered to the governor several days ago to take effect Sept. 1.

Judge Adams resigned to become counsel for the Arbuckle Brothers, a New York firm. He will move his family to New York for permanent residence. Judge Adams was the presiding judge of his court at the time of his resignation.

GRAPHIC TALE OF RAID BY REBELS

American Refugees Arrive from Mexican City of Durango.

SIXTY COME NORTH

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—American refugees are in force here today, having landed yesterday at San Diego. Sixty persons were brought north from Guaymas and vicinity by the United States cruiser Pittsburg. Among them was T. L. Findley, who still is suffering from the effects of a bayonet wound received at the hands of an intoxicated rebel while lying sick in bed at his home in Durango. Findley gave a graphic description of the raid on the city of Durango by a band of 6,000 rebels.

"There was a colony of about 150 Americans in Durango at that time," said Findley, "and they suffered like the rest, all their money, watches and jewelry being taken from them. The rebels did not even respect the United States consulate. They entered Consul Ham's residence and forcibly took possession of all his arms and ammunition, although they did not molest his personal belongings.

"Immediately following the raid a number of Americans left for Mazatlan by way of a mountain pass and have not been heard of. The supposition is that they fell into the hands of the bandits."

C. K. Sigelis, another American refugee, corroborated the story.

3-YEAR-OLD TOT BURNED AT PLAY

Little Daughter of Fred Schroeder Gets Hold of Matches.

CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Gertrude Schroeder, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schroeder, of 518 East Jefferson street, is in a serious condition, suffering from burns sustained Saturday when she set fire to her dress while playing with matches. She is being attended by Dr. Morgan and Dr. Duemling.

The little girl was playing on the back porch of the family residence. Mrs. Schroeder, who was in the kitchen, heard the baby scream, and rushing to the porch saw the child's body enveloped in flames. The mother wore a large apron, and hastily throwing this about the girl, succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

Deep burns extend from the child's right knee entirely to her head, and spread over her entire right side. The burns will not be fatal unless other complications develop.

LOOPS THE LOOP IN AN AEROPLANE

French Aviator Evolves a New Mode of Defying Death.

STUNT IS A SUCCESS

Juvissy, France, Sept. 1.—A French aviator named Pegoud, today "looped the loop" while flying at a height of 1,500 feet in his aeroplane. He afterward descended without injury.

Pegoud recently caused a sensation by dropping safely from an aeroplane with a parachute. He announced before leaving the ground today that he intended to turn a somersault in the air with his aeroplane and his movements were followed closely by a large body of observers. When he reached a height of about 3,000 feet he turned the nose of his machine straight toward the earth and darted downward with his motor working at full power. After plunging about 1,000 feet with frightful velocity he changed the position of his rudder and caused the machine to turn a complete vertical circle. The machine then glided down in a huge spiral volplane and alighted gently on the ground.

Pegoud will repeat the feat tomorrow in the presence of a committee of military officers.

BOY SCOUTS TO BE SELF-SUPPORTING

National Council Plans a New System of Financing Movement.

NOW 300,000 MEMBERS

New York, Sept. 1.—The Boy Scouts of America, an organization heretofore supported by philanthropy, will seek to make itself supporting. The executive committee of the national council announces a plan whereby the boys, of whom there are now 300,000 enrolled as members, will be assessed 25 cents a year, beginning October 1.

Local councils of the Boy Scouts will be divided into two classes, those of the first class, where a central office is maintained, will retain 5 cents out of the 25 cents for local work, sending the balance of 10 cents to the national council for the broader work of the organization. Councils of the second class will retain only 5 cents of the 25 cents contribution. It is hoped that the assessments will enable the organization to maintain its work without further appeal to charity.

Thirty-five Boy Scouts will leave New York Sept. 15 on the proposed transcontinental walk for which two years have been allotted. The boys have been camping for three weeks at a beach resort getting in shape for the long tramp. They will go to New Orleans, and probably take an excursion from there to witness the opening of the Panama canal and they will then continue on their tramp from New Orleans to San Francisco to take part in the exposition in 1915.

BULLETIN.

Shanghai, China, Sept. 1.—The city of Nanking was captured today by the Chinese government troops. The rebel forces fled into the country through the southern gate.

LABOR'S HOST IN A HOLIDAY

ENTIRE CITY IS TAKING DAY OFF

Notable Program at Swinney Park—Events Elsewhere About the City.

Thousands of people have gathered at Swinney park today to pay fitting tribute to labor, and Fort Wayne, as a city, has spared no expense or time in making the official Labor day celebration a success. Business is suspended for the day, not a wheel is turning at manufacturing institutions, and the doors of all business houses are closed, while the entire city joins in offering its tribute to men who toil. Downtown buildings have been gaily decorated in national colors, and many homes in the residential districts display flags and streamers in honor of the holiday, when the entire nation bows to labor.

The celebration in Fort Wayne is general, and aside from the official Labor day program this afternoon at Swinney park there will be other events of interest, including horse races at the Driving park, baseball at League park, a special program and balloon ascension at Robison park, and numerous picnics.

Crowds Throng Streets.

Two hours before the street parade started on its way the thoroughfares along which the spectacle was scheduled to pass were thronged with eager spectators. The parade was one of the longest Labor day processions ever witnessed in Fort Wayne, and it required thirty-five minutes' time for it to pass one point. While the first division of the parade was almost to the park, the last division was just passing down Calhoun street.

Practically every line of trade was represented in the monster parade which officially opened Fort Wayne's Labor Day celebration. Attired in their working uniforms, some of the men on the industrial oats, entered by unions and manufacturing establishments, actually labored at their trades as the wagons moved through the streets toward Swinney park. The line of march was north on Barr street to Columbia, west on Columbia to Calhoun, south on Calhoun to Washington, and west on Washington to the park.

The parade was headed by a platoon of police, under the charge of Captain Martin Rundell. This was followed by the chief marshal and his aides, the Citizens' band, city officials in carriages and then the speakers and members of the general committee in charge of the celebration, representing the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor. The parade moved in divisions as follows:

First Division, Metal trades—Steel Workers, Nos. 14 and 17, Moulders, Electrical Workers No. 723; Machinists, Sheet Metal Workers No. 383, Blacksmiths, Boilermakers.

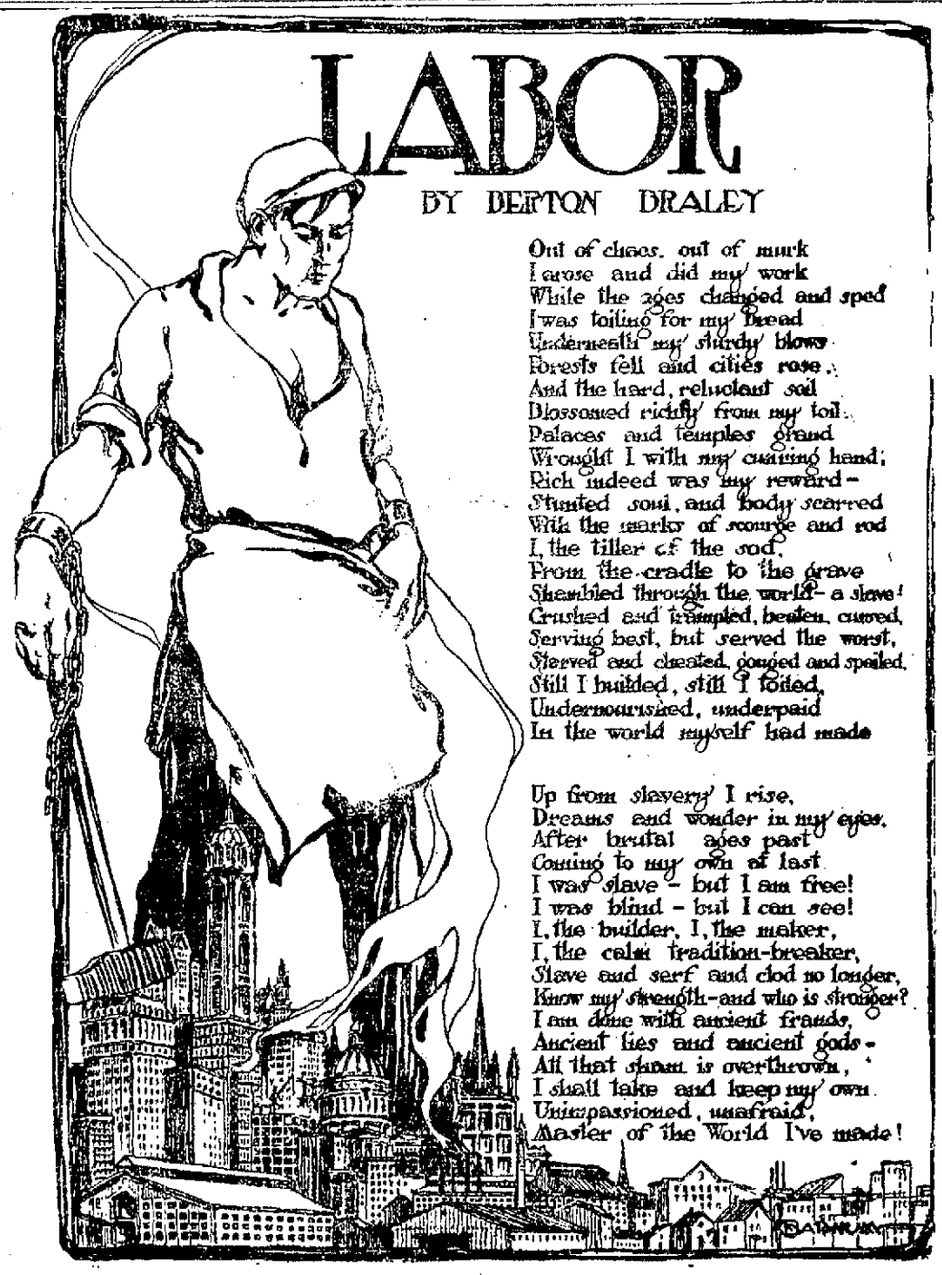
"LARRY" LANDS PRIZE AT MICHIGAN RESORT.

Leland, Mich., Sept. 1.—A. L. Randall, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has landed the prize on Lake Leelanau, with his guide having caught nineteen bass weighing forty-eight pounds. This is the largest single day's catch reported here in the past fifteen years. Camera men were on deck to take pictures of the catch for postal card use.



Big Game

Mr. Burns has not authorized the publication of the above want ad., but from information which has reached The Sentinel, it is evident that he needs one; therefore, the Corner Story department takes the liberty of trying to help him to get what he ought to have.

Mr. Burns lives at No. 135 East Suttenfield avenue. Besides the members of the family, one other, also, has been living at the same house number. The "other" is a mouse. He has been very unwelcome. Mrs. Burns, who finds it particularly distasteful to have a mouse around, first discovered the presence of the "varmint" and told her husband about it. Mr. Burns, in his work as a patent attorney, has had an exceptional opportunity to know all about mousetraps, so he took home one of the cheese-baited kind. The mouse, for a period of several days, robbed the trap of its cheese supply and came to consider the trap as a very convenient boarding place. Mr. Burns tried several other kinds of traps but without success, and finally decided to shoot the unwelcome visitor with his Marlin rifle.

That evening, right after dinner, he seated himself comfortably at a point which commanded the hole through which he knew the mouse would appear, placed the weapon so he secured a bead on the aforesaid hole, and waited with one eye shut. Mr. Mouse darted out, took a look and vanished before Mr. Burns could twitch his index finger. However, the faithful watchman held his post hour after hour until just after midnight when

Mr. Mouse darted out of his hiding place again.

The neighbors heard a bang which startled them out of their sleep, and most of them sat up till morning in fear and trembling. (This story will explain to them the mystery). Mr. Burns declares that he "got" Mr. Mouse, but there are those just mean enough to say that when the smoke cleared away the place where the mouse had been looked just the same as before, with the exception of the mutilation of the woodwork in the immediate vicinity. Therefore, it would seem, Mr. Burns ought to have "a competent, well-trained mouse-hound."

any treaty provisions with the federal government. He asserted that the question raised is one of vital importance to our nation, in its relation to foreign governments.

He pointed out that it is not to be presumed that the people of the United States intended to confer upon the federal government a less power than had been exercised by other nations since the dawn of civilization.

Federal Power Necessary.

"If it be true that the federal government may not make a treaty upon any matter which is ordinarily reserved for the governmental control of the state," he said, " a principal part of the treaty-making power, as it has been exercised for more than one hundred and twenty-five years, is swept away, for the central government has exercised this power, and it is absolutely necessary that it should do so in order to protect foreign American citizens in their rights and to demand and receive for our citizens the same rights in foreign countries. We cannot expect that American citizens will be respected and receive the protection to which they are entitled under the principles of international law and the custom of nations if we declare that our government is so impotent that it cannot give to foreign citizens within the states the same protection."

The Day's Session.

The session of the bar association this morning was devoted to the address of welcome by the Canadian prime minister, the annual address of the president of the association, delivered by Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, the nomination and election of new members, the reports of officers and similar routine. The event of the afternoon was the delivery of an address by Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor of Great Britain.

The day's program concludes with the conferring of honorary degrees by McGill university upon the following distinguished members of the legal profession: Viscount Haldane, Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, of the United States; Prime Minister Robert L. Borden, of Canada; Maitre F. Labori, Batenier de L'Ordre des Advocats a la Cour de Paris; William H. Taft, former president of the United States; Charles J. Doherty, minister of justice and attorney general of Canada; Joseph H. Choate, ex-ambassador from the United States to Great Britain; Elihu Root, United States senator from New York; Frank B. Kellogg, president of the association.

MANY TEACHERS IN ATTENDANCE

CONTINUES FIVE DAYS

The annual session of the Allen county teachers' institute was opened this morning at 9 o'clock in the high school auditorium with 350 teachers in attendance. Edward C. Hoffman gave the address of welcome to the visitors after Rev. W. A. Griest, pastor of Simpson church, had opened the meeting with devotional exercises.

Supt. David O. McComb, who is presiding at the institute, this morning appointed the roll keepers and a program committee for preliminary institutes which will be held in the assembly room of the court house on September 6, 8, 9 and 10. The institute will close Friday night, and there are to be two evening sessions on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Dr. Henry A. Adrian, a Chautauqua and Lyceum lecturer, who has experienced the problems of country school teacher, county superintendent of schools, high school principal and president of the California Teachers association, delivered a lecture this morning on "Inspiration and Grind." His talk was characteristic of a man of long experience as a teacher and as the head of school systems. The address was enthusiastically received, and was particularly appropriate for the beginning of the sessions of the institute. Dr. Adrian will speak every day during the institute, and the teachers are looking forward to several more interesting addresses from him.

At the afternoon session today Rev. Dr. John Merritte Driver, who was well known in Fort Wayne twenty years ago, was to deliver a lecture on "Pre-Columbian Dreams and Foretokens of a New World." Dr. Driver was the popular successor of Dr. H. W. Thomas and Dr. Frank Crane at the famous People's Church, of Chicago, and he has won an enviable pre-eminence both in the pulpit and on the lecture platform. His first address at the institute this afternoon will dwell on the remarkable group of ancient geniuses who believed that of necessity there existed somewhere beyond the Atlantic ocean a better world. Dr. Adrian also will speak this afternoon on "The Hatred of History."

Prof. William Miles, supervisor of music in the Fort Wayne schools, is the third instructor at the institute. He has served at Allen county institutes for many years.

All the departments were closed, however, so far as thousands of clerks were concerned. President Wilson is expected to return from his vacation at Cornish, N. The house was not scheduled to meet today, having adjourned from Saturday to noon tomorrow. Many members took advantage of the holiday to hurry to their home districts to take part in the celebration of labor organizations.

MORTON RIFLES' REUNION.

Veterans Will Gather at Huntington on September 11.

The annual reunion of survivors of the Thirty-fourth Indiana volunteers, more familiarly known as the Morton Rifles, will be held at Huntington on September 11, and a splendid program has been arranged. Three members of the old regiment reside in Fort Wayne. They are F. J. Potter, Lafayette Beaber and Capt. W. F. Bryson. All are planning to attend the reunion, and many other Fort Wayne veterans will doubtless accompany them.

The Thirty-fourth regiment was mustered into service at Anderson in September, 1861; into the veteran service at New Ibras, La., Dec. 14, 1863, and was mustered out at Brownsville, Tex., Feb. 3, 1866.

Registration Starts for Last Big Land Drawing.

Glasgow, Mont., Sept. 1.—At a minute past midnight today registration under the direction of Judge J. W. Witten, of the interior department, began for the drawing of lands in the Fort Peck Indian reservation in Northwestern Montana, embodying 1,345,000 acres. This will mark the last big land lottery in the United States. The Fort Peck reservation contains altogether more than two million acres. The drawing will be held here beginning Sept. 23. It is estimated that 80,000 will file applications.

PIATT WILL INVESTIGATE.

Valuable Mail Matter Burns When a Lighted Match Is Thrown In Box.

Postoffice Inspector W. B. Piatt will take charge of the investigations that are to be made in an attempt to locate the person who threw a lighted match in the mail box at the corner of Taylor street and Broadway some time Sunday afternoon. When a mail collector opened the box he found eight letters and one postal card badly burned, and one of the letters contained $10 in currency. Another letter was burned so badly that it was impossible for Postmaster R. B. Hanna to determine to whom it had been addressed. City Detectives Frye and Junk were assigned to the case, but later it was placed in the hands of Mr. Piatt. The offense is punishable by three years' imprisonment in the federal prison.

OLD MEXICAN IS STILL LAMENTING

Mexican War Veteran's Bride-to-Be Died Just Before Ceremony.

IS NOW 102 YEARS OLD

St. James, Mo., Sept. 1.—The oldest inmate of the Federal Soldiers' home here is one of the few surviving veterans of the Mexican war. He is William C. Simpson, who is 102 years old. The average veteran in the home past eighty years of age is feeble and no longer able to do work of any kind.

Simpson, in his one hundredth year, was making baskets, from the sale of which he earned enough money to make provision for all his burial expenses. Now, he too has stopped working, but spends his time administering to his more decrepit comrades.

Sought Health in Open.

Simpson was born in Little York, Pa., June 3, 1811. He was an orphan at the age of two years.

Frail health in his youth caused him to plunge into the west, settling on a homestead in Taney county, Mo., in the pioneer days. He herded sheep till life in the open air of the Ozarks brought health to him.

He disposed to his homestead and moved to Rogers, Ark., where he engaged in the grocery business. Fire deprived him of everything he possessed, and sixty years of age, when most men are thinking of retiring, found him starting life over again. He became a farm hand and the rest of his life was spent farming. He entered the home here eight years ago.

Marchd Into Mexico.

He enlisted in the army at the breakout of the Mexican war and took part in many of the important engagements. He was at the fall of Chapultepec and marched with the victorious legions into the City of Mexico. During the heavy cannonading at Chapultepec one of his ear drums was ruptured and he has been partially deaf ever since.

Simpson was never married. When a young man the girl he expected to marry died a few days before the date set for the wedding. He never ceased to grieve for her.

The old veteran attributes his longevity to moderation in eating, corn bread and bacon having been his principal diet during his life. Advancing years have not entirely destroyed his energy. Only last fall he visited in Lebanon and walked a mile from the home where he was staying to attend the county fair.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS OPENS.

Baine, of Boston, Mass., and Louis Keaper, of Cincinnati, O., who represent the American Federation of Labor.

Paul Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., is here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. M. B. Hopkins, and Miss Zon a Hopkins, of Huron street.

Among these was a match between teams representing the United States and the Argentine republic.

DANIELS AT HARTFORD.

Naval Secretary Wants Uncle Sam to Own Armor Plate Factory.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 1.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels came here today to speak at the Connecticut state fair. He urged that the government should own its armor plate factory. "We are up against the same thing in armor plate as we were with gun powder and guns when we started making them for ourselves," he said. "Exorbitant prices were charged for those goods and now the prices are coming down gradually. We should have an armour plate factory and make at least a part of the armor we need. Then we will be able to get armor at a reasonable figure."

MRS. WELLS TALKS OF WORK.

Mrs. Mary Wells, who was arrested at Columbia City following an address she delivered on the streets of that place, is now at her home, 1806 Oliver street, Fort Wayne, having been released from custody in the Whitley county seat. Mrs. Wells states that she is trying to arouse the people to a sense of conditions in the asylums for the insane. She was sent to East Haven hospital at Richmond three years ago. "I am at liberty through the grace of the Almighty Father," says Mrs. Wells, "and am doing all in my power to reate to the world conditions in our asylums. Insanity is an evil spirit and only prayer can cure it. Medicine will do no good."

THOUGHT HIKER A TRAMP.

Cross-Continent Pedestrian Narrowly Escapes Arrest.

New York, Sept. 1.—Herbert H. Hoover, who double-crossed the continent in 322 days, narrowly escaped arrest today when he arrived here at the completion of his long journey. His long hair and ragged clothes attracted the attention of a policeman, but after the officer had seen letters from chiefs of police of towns all the way across the country which the pedestrian carried with him he respectfully directed Hoover to police headquarters, where Hoover told his story. The walker said that by tramping to San Francisco and back he had won a wager of $1,000, but that his principal purpose in making the journey on foot was to improve his health. In this he succeeded. When he started he was threatened with consumption and weighed only 104 pounds. Now he weighs 140 pounds and is in the pink of condition. Hoover's home is in Newark, N. J. He is 21 years old.

MANY GOLFERS SEEK TITLE.

Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 1.—One hundred and forty-four golfers tramped the Garden City club's links today in quest of the national amateur title. The qualifying round will reduce this field to thirty-two, who will spend the rest of the week at match play for the championship.

SLIT SKIRT AND "SEPTEMBER MORN"

Police in Omaha Allow Women More Privilege Than in Other Cities.

THINK IT'S ALL "O. K."

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 1.—Although Omaha women cannot vote, orders recently issued from the different departments of the city government give them more privileges than they enjoy in any other city of the country.

While Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis and other western cities have been terribly aroused over the question of bathing suits for women, out here they are permitted to wear anything they please. "Anything that men can wear, women can wear," is the motto at the Rod and Gun club bathing beach. The "one-piece" bathing suit is the usual and regular thing and many of the women wear men's bathing suits.

"Spooning in city parks it all right," says Park Commissioner Hummel. "What do people suppose parks are for, anyway? If they can't spoon in the parks, where can they spoon?"

So Omaha's parks have lots of nice, quiet, dark nooks and corners and while there are park policemen in plenty, these guardians always stay out in the open walks where they can be seen before they can see. "Let 'em spoon" is the order the park commission gave some time ago.

Slit skirts? "They can wear them slit high enough to show the knee, but no higher," says Chief of Police Henry W. Dunn. "I have issued orders to the patrolmen to arrest all women whose slit skirts show the top of their hose. I'll have nothing so indecent on the streets of Omaha—and I don't believe Omaha women will wear them cut that high, anyway."

Chief Dunn says he does not care how ultra-thin are the hose worn with these long slit skirts, but he won't stand for rips and holes in the fabric. "But Omaha women won't stand for them, either," says the chief.

The Filmy Stuff Goes.

Omaha is a splendid city for the new transparent skirt, too. The sun is bright out here and when the wearer of the light filmy stuff gets between the man with two eyes and the afternoon sun, the effect is startling. But the police have orders not to interfere. If any Omaha woman wants to walk down Farnum street with a gossamer sort of dress arranged for its transparent effects, she will not be stopped by an officer of the law. It's all right. As for tight skirts—well, they can't get 'em so tight that the Omaha police will interfere.

Bears? Trots? Hugs? Tango? Omaha has a board of censors and these things are not permitted in the public dance halls, but at the clubs they are danced to the heart's content of those who are neither too old nor too fat to indulge. And not a word from the censors, either.

"Let 'em enjoy themselves. It's all right. Not a bit of harm in it," say those who are paid by the city to know what is good and what is bad in dancing.

The new "beach" dance is also allowed at the bathing beaches, where the guests all wear bathing suits and get out on the sand and dance. And these suits are not those made for the purpose of not going near the water, either. Just the ordinary kind of bathing suit which a man wears—the one-piece kind that sticks tight enough when dry and a lot tighter when wet. Many of the women wear them just as the men do.

As to That September Thing.

Some cities went into hysterics over "September Morn." So did Omaha—but not in the way of prohibiting its public display and sale. Half the department stores in town placed copies on sale at ten cents and sold out in an hour. Just one single effort was made to have the picture removed from display on the streets. An "old-fashioned" woman wrote to Mayor Dahlman about it, and here is what the "cowboy mayor" answered:

"Your objection to the picture and your request that I suppress it gave me much pleasure, for it gave me definite information as to where I could see a copy without tramping all over town. Really, madam, I cannot agree with you that there is anything bad about that picture. I am one who believes in the saying, 'It all depends on the condition of one's stomach,' whether they see wrong things or not.

"If I could paint a picture like that I would resign at once and go into the business of painting pictures. There might have been a trifle more draperies about the maid in the picture, but the artist didn't see it that way and he is a better judge of nature than I am."

Some cities "cut out" spooning in automobiles, but the Omaha officials say it's all right. "Be careful where you're going, though," they say to the people in the car.

HE GETS 2 CENTS.

Had 6 Cents Coming but Spent 4 for Postage as a Creditor.

In an attempt to locate six remaining creditors in the bankruptcy matter of Elizabeth McClellan, of Auburn, which was filed here in May, 1903, Thomas J. Logan, United States commissioner, published the names of those for whom checks have been held. Among others who responded was Attorney D. D. Moody, of Auburn, whose name appeared in the list. He immediately wrote Mr. Logan requesting that his check be forwarded, and enclosed a stamped envelope for the purpose. His check amounted to 6 cents. He was out 4 cents for postage, and is only 2 cents to the good.

Liabilities in the McClellan case amounted to $50,000. All of the creditors but six had been paid, and the reason they were not was due to the fact that the trustee did not have their addresses. The remaining checks range in value from 16 cents to $29.

RECEIVED AT EMBASSY.

Officers of Washington Continentals Pay Visit to Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—Fifteen officers of the Washington "Continentals," in their historic uniforms, under the command of Colonel Winter and accompanied by a deputation of the German Kriegerbund of New York, were received at the American embassy this morning. They will attend the autumn parade of the guards' army corps tomorrow.

Mrs. W. G. Stahl and sons, Karl and Earl, and Mrs. Amanda Shisler, are at Clear Lake for the remainder of the summer.

KEEPS GOLD MINE A HIDDEN SECRET

THOUGHT TO BE RUSE

Stanford University, Cal., Sept. 1.—In the hills back of the Stanford university campus, in a secluded spot, lives a hermit whose little home is one of the favorite afternoon excursions of the Stanford students. So carefully tucked away is his humble dwelling that unless previously directed one would pass it by without notice.

"The hermit" is the only style he has in Stanford life, for no one has yet been able to learn his name. He takes great interest in showing his visitors a book of panoramic views of Italy, which, he says, he left forty-four years ago to come to California. It is with great pride that he tells that he has stayed in the same place for over forty years.

Usually the little old man may be found working in his garden or washing his clothes, but he is always willing to pause in his work to extend his hospitality to visitors.

The hut is divided into two rooms: one a bedroom into which he takes no one, while the other is his kitchen and living room. Neatness also prevails in the house. The floors and walls are spotless and dustless. His stove, which might have been new in the early eighties, is kept in the neatest order.

No Smoking Allowed.

Upon the wall four signs telling the old man's aversion to tobacco attract the eye. In four languages, French, Italian, Spanish and English, guests are requested not to smoke. After placing chairs for his guests, he produces a bottle of wine of his own vintage, which is, by the way, very different from the Falernian of his native land.

After refreshments he questions his visitors of current events in the outside world. He wants to be told of the war between the Italians and the "Barbar" Turks, which he did not know was over until recently. Then he tells of his mine hidden back in the hills, in a place of which no one knows.

He shows ore which might contain valuable metals, and then produces assay sheets some years old that testify that certain submitted ore assayed from $62 a ton to $122.50 a ton, in all of which silver was the predominating metal, with smaller deposits of gold, lead and copper.

He tells how he has been troubled by members of the Mafia companies, commonly called the Black Hand, who have attempted to force him to sign over his property to them and show them where the mine is.

His Living a Mystery.

As he is hearty and hale, it is a question whether he gets sufficient food on which to live. His garden does not produce much and he rarely makes trips to the stores. How he obtains money with which to purchase food is another question.

Many have thought that his mine yields him sufficient aand others have thought that he has a hidden fortune and uses the mine as a ruse to keep people from thinking he has such a fortune.

When his visitors are ready to leave he escorts them back to the trail leading to the university campus, describing in detail how he is going to build a chateau when his mines are developed, and inviting his visitors to return and bring their friends with them.

At the head of the trail he stops and says "Adios." As you are about to pass beyond his view you turn to see him standing motionless, watching until his guests are out of sight.

AUTO STRIKES BABY CAB.

Six-Months-Old Child Is Thrown Out but Escapes Injury.

The six-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. John Buelow, of 1110 Spy Run avenue, miraculously escaped death yesterday afternoon when its cab, which was being pushed across Columbia street on Calhoun, was struck by an automobile driven by Ernest Hinkle, of West Main street. The cab was hurled over twice but the little child did not fall out until after the buggy had stopped on its side. Mr. Buelow also was struck by the machine and he received cuts about his head and some slight internal injuries. He was taken to the Lutheran hospital after the accident, and he was improved there this morning.

BAD COLLISION AT MONTPELIER

FOUR TRAINMEN AND A PASSENGER HURT

E. J. Gebhart, One of the Victims, Well Known in Fort Wayne.

The Toledo section of westbound Wabash train, No. 9 collided with switch engine 2050 in the east end of the Montpelier, Ohio, yards at 2:55 o'clock this morning and five persons were injured and two engines and the mail car badly damaged. The injured are:

Engineer E. J. Gebhart, badly cut and bruised about the head, with possibly a fracture of the skull. Is unconscious. Taken to the Smith hotel in Montpelier.

Conductor W. H. Lefferts, of Toledo, both cuts and bruises about the head. Taken to the Montpelier hospital.

Brakeman E. J. Richmond, of Peru, cuts on head and face and back and shoulders sprained and bruised. Taken to Wabash hospital at Peru.

P. L. Lash, of Blakesley, Ohio, a passenger, injured in chest; not serious. Taken to the hospital in Montpelier.

Mail Clerk H. W. Hill, of St. Louis, had gash in forehead over the left eye. Was able to continue the trip to St. Louis.

The train which figured in the wreck runs only between Toledo and Montpelier, making connection at the latter place with the regular No. 9 from Detroit. It carries a mail car, a combination baggage car and a sleeper, which are united with the train from Detroit. Only the mail car was damaged so that it could not proceed to St. Louis. The engine pulling the passenger train, No. 421, as well as switch engine No. 2050, were badly damaged and will have to go to the shops.

Engineer Gebhart resides in Peru, although he has been emporarily making Montpelier his headquarters. He is one of the best known engineers on this part of the Wabash system and for a long time had a run in and out of Fort Wayne.

The railway officials are holding an investigation in Montpelier today to fix the blame for the accident.

HEAR JOYFUL RUMORS.

Nickel Plate Clerks Happy Over Prospects for Increase.

A rumor comes from Cleveland to the effect that the men in the clerical department of the Nickel Plate are to receive a 6 per cent. increase in wages and they are expecting the official announcement soon. Nothing official has been given out here so far, but the trainmen from the east say that some of the departments have received such notice and say it is rumored that the increase is to be general in the clerical ranks. The increase is probably due to the increased work the semi-monthly pay day has placed upon the men.

TRAVEL VERY HEAVY.

Labor day travel, in which is included the business of Saturday, Sunday and today, was much heavier than the local agents expecteed, because no special rates were made. All of the agents report heavy sales and travel to the lakes was particularly heavy. Agent Pritchard, of the Nickel Plate, says the sales of the dollar tickets yesterday were above 600, equaling the sales of a week ago, which broke the record. In addition to this business, the Nickel Plate also did a large business in handling people who could not take advantage of the dollar rate because of the time limit. All the passenger equipment on the Wabash was busy yesterday, travel being heavy out of all the stations on the line. The Pennsylvania had to add extra coaches to all of its trains Saturday and Sunday and in addition had two special trains loaded with Knights Templar returning from Denver. Last night the Philadelphia commandery occupied a second section of the limited, No. 2, and tonight a second section of the Broadway limited will carry commanderies from cities in Pennsylvania. The Lake Shore excursion to Cedar Point was the only poorly patronized excursion out of the city, there being less than fifty tickets sold here. The lack of business to Cedar Point, however, was more than made up by the increased travel to the lakes in the northern part of the state. The G. R. & I. also had a big business out of Fort Wayne in both directions.

TEARING DOWN FREIGHT HOUSE.

A gang of laborers will be engaged this week in teaging down the old Lake Shore freight house and by Saturday night nothing but the site will remain. The material is being taken to Adrian, Mich., where it will be used in making some improvements.

Among the contracts for lumber in hand at the Perrine-Armstrong mills is one for the lumber that will go into the construction of the government water power dam at Keokuk, Iowa. A shipment was made last Friday and other shipments will be made this week.

H. R. Spore, Pennsylvania fireman, was burned by hot water Saturday by a leaking injector and had to abandon his run and return to his home in Crestline, where he is in a hospital. The wounds are on his hips and legs and are not serious.

Round House Foreman H. H. Metzger, of the Lake Shore, is on duty again after a two weeks outing at the lakes.

PIANO FELL ON HIM.

Charles Swingley, a stevedore at the Pennsylvania freight house, sustained injuries Saturday that will disable him for a week or more. He was assisting in handling a piano, when it got beyond control and fell over against Mr. Swingley, carrying him against some boxes and injuring him. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital under the impression that some bones were broken, but this, fortunately was an error and nothing more serious than severe bruises and sprains were sustained.

YARDMASTER AT MONTPELIER.

This morning J. E. Lambert assumed the office of general yardmaster at Montpelier for the Wabash, succeeding E. B. Nye, assigned to other duties. Mr. Lambert started under most inauspicious circumstances, a collision between a switch engine and a passenger train taking place in those yards early this morning.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Howard Pierce greets patrons at the ticket window of the Pennsylvania again, after an absence of two weeks, which he spent on the seashore.

A. L. Lopshire, road foreman of engines of the G. R. & I., and Passenger Engineer A. J. Nickell are at Wawasee for a few days' sport at firshing.

H. C. Holliday, chief clerk for Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the G. R. & I. who was driven north by the hayfever two weeks ago, is at his desk again, feeling better than when he went north.

Assistant Trainmaster Charles E. McKeehan, of the Pennsylvania, resumed active duties this morning. He had been spending his annual vacation at Carp lake, where he owns a cottage. Mrs. McKeehan and the family, who were at the lake all summer, returned home with Mr. McKeehan.

William J. Bright and his wife, of 711 East Wayne street, have returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Pittsburg, where Mr. Bright spent a portion of his residence in America before coming to Fort Wayne, over a third of a century ago. Mr. Bright is a retired Pennsylvania employe.

LAWYER'S PLAN BITTER FIGHT

thew W. Hutchinson tomorrow on the right of John Boudreau, chief of police of Coaticook, to demand the freedom of Harry K. Thaw, whom Boudreau arrested two weeks ago, will determine whether there shall be set in motion at once the machinery looking to Thaw's deportation and subsequent extradition from a border state, or whether he shall be remanded to the Sherbrooke jail to remain until the session of the king's bench in October. If Superior Judge Matthew Hutchinson sustains the writ of habeas corpus which was obtained by counsel acting for the state of New York Thaw may be immediately turned over to the immigration authorities for deportation. Against this contingency his lawyers have laid plans for a bitter fight.

Boudreau in applying for the writ contends that Thaw is held illegally, not being charged with any crime. There is the added clause that Boudreau, conscious of the illegality of holding the prisoner, is apprehensive lest he be liable to damages.

In their preparation for fighting the case in its present status, Thaw's advisers have caused him to swear before a notary that he contemplates no damage suits, in fact releases Boudreau from any responsibility in the matter. In this way they hope to show that Boudreau is a disinterested party in the proceedings and has no right to ask for Thaw's liberty. They have gone a step further in having Thaw swear that he is in no way desirous of being set free at this time and that the proceedings are contrary to the basic principle of habeas corpus. Should those arguments fail and the writ be granted they hope to appeal to the higher courts and stay the proceedings. Lawyers representing New York maintained today that even should an appeal die, the prisoner will already have been released, the immigration authorities will have seized him, and accomplished the desire of the state. William Traverse Jerome, Thaw's old prosecutor and now chief of the forces seeking his deportation, was back in Sherbrooke today, after spending the weekend in Quebec. He is prepared to stay until he has exhausted every effort to get Thaw back to Matteawan. Should tomorrow's writ fail, there is reason to believe that some action may be taken through Dr. Raymond Kieb, superintendent of Matteawan, and as such Thaw's legal custodian. It was pointed out that Dr. Kieb could demand that Thaw, as a lunatic, be surrendered to him.

Jerome believes firmly that Thaw will go back to Matteawan and soon. He believes that if further legal entanglements arise here high dominion authorities, branding Thaw's long detention without trial a public scandal, will demand his release.

HOLIDAY GRIST IN POLICE COURT

A Heavy Docket Precedes the Inauguration of Labor Day.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Thirty-seven cases were docketed for police court hearings this morning and the array of delinquents looked like a land league convention. Hibernia was represented by names illustrious in Erin's history from the days of old King Brian Boru down to Redmond and Healy. The bulk of all the crowd were in for drunkenness and it being Labor day when no man should work, Judge Mungovan and Prosecutor Callahan labored with zeal to clear the docket that everybody might take part in the annual festival of toil.

Jim Woodworth tried to get in his fifty-first plea of not guilty and make it go, but while soused Saturday night he had the mishap to encounter Prosecutor Callahan, so his testimony was discredited. He went over for fifteen days. Kinch, House, Quinn, Crawford, Craigin and Higgins got eleven days and Quinn, who was let out at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and locked up again at 2 in the afternoon, was sent over for fifteen days. The others of this group were turned loose. Andy McMillan, Milt Urad, George Emmons, Ben Gray, Arthur Laurier, Robert Parker, Joe Staples and John Hendry, the last two named colored, were released. John Bill, a fat colored man, went over for eleven days.

Clarence Cartwright and Bert Johnson, two clean-looking fellows who were drunk and making a disturbance, were arrested for disorderly conduct, but were allowed to go on their plea of first offense and promise of future good behavior.

Had Robbed His Landlady.

Because his former landlady, Mrs. Carr, of Fairfield avenue, was reluctant to prosecute, Paul Widdington was let go with a fine of $5 and costs whereas larceny could have been charged. He filled a traveling bag with her belongings and skipped out. Plainclothesman Junk happened to see Widdington toss the bag into a vacant lot next to the Geller bakery on Broadway and later arrested him.

Thieves Waive Preliminary.

Carl Sieling and Earl Shoemaker, charged with burglarizing a saloon in the east end Thursday night and who confessed to that and other crimes, waived preliminary examination and were bound over to the circuit court and in default of $1,000 bond each were sent to jail. The police have the goods on this bad pair and they will be likely to bother no one for some timee.

Other Police Court Cases.

Bud Aeed, a wop living on Force street, was up for assault and battery on his wife, whom he slapped and turned out of his home Saturday night because his supper was not ready. She has a child of a few months and was taken in and cared for by Mrs. Junk, wife of Plainclothe Officer Peter Junk. Aeed and his male boarders have subjected the woman to much abuse. The man was warned and let go because his family needs his earnings.

POLICE CASES THAT BLEW UP.

Lee Frank reported to the police that his father had been robbed of $5 by a man who later was arrested for drunkenness. Today he reported to the station that no robbery had been committed, Frank, senior, found the money in his shoe, where he placed the bill for safe-keeping and forgotten it.

George Ketcham, 126 Brackenridge street, reported that his home had been entered by a robber who stole some money and jewelry. Later he notified headquarters that no robbery was committed, but that a member of the household had secreted the supposedly stolen property for safety.

E. C. Robbins, a conductor on the Fort Wayne & Northwestern interurban line, found the watch which he reported to the police as having been stolen from his coat while playing pool in the Stag hotel billiard room Saturday night. In his later report he said the watch had slipped down his trousers leg.

Two twenty-dollar bills reported stolen by Dan Clemens, of the Alt Heidelberg cafe, were found by Detective Sergeant Ward Hall when Mr. Clemens was demonstrating how he was counting the money at a desk. A bystander had been suspected. The baanknotes were found concealed under a leaf in the desk.

STOPS A RUNAWAY.

Patrolman Bert Smith commandeered an automobile in front of the Commercial club at 8 o'clock last evening and started in pursuit of a runaway horse that dashed by him going south on Harrison street. He overtook the outfit at Baker street, where the horse that was drawing the buggy had stumbled and fallen. The rig belonged to Constantine Thiller, of Sheldon, who with his wife occupied the carriage. Mrs. Thiller collapsed from the shock of fright after she had been taken from the buggy. Mr. Thiller was uninjured. The harness was damaged some. Officer Smith was on the ground almost as soon as the animal fell and prevented a struggle that might have made the accident a serious affair.

NOTES OF THE POLICE.

A pocketbook containing $2.45 was left in a seat in an interurban car by Mrs. Fry, wife of Plainclothesman Fry, of the city police, Sunday afternoon. The purse was found by someone who kept it.

Mr. Lankenau, 2612 Hanna street, who is building a new house at the corner of Webster street and Kinnaird avenue, reports to the police that some vandal has been doing extensive damage in the new dwelling by ripping the fresh plastering from the walls. He offers $25 reward for detection of the guilty party.

HELP.

"Will you help me to recover my child, lady?"

"Poor thing, is he lost?"

F. W. Underhill, a war time business man of Fort Wayne, died Sunday at his home in Leipsic, O., according to information received here this morning. Mr. Underhill was proprietor of an old monumental establishment in Fort Wayne for many years, but had not resided here for some time. His wife died in 1910 and was buried here.

Local relatives and friends have been informed that the remains will be shipped to Fort Wayne Wednesday, and funeral services here will be held under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. lodge to which he belonged.

Trainmaster Samuel M. Taylor, of the Pennsylvania, is sick and off duty. Mr. Taylor is the representative of the Western division of the Pennsylvania on the advisory board of the Voluntary Relief association.

CITY BUILDING CLOSED FOR DAY

Police and Health Departments Alone Opened for Business.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

In recognition of Labor day the city building was closed throughout the day. The police and health departments alone were open for the transaction of public business, the latter being open during a part of the holiday. All other departments had closed doors and officials, clerks and other employes of the city joined the holiday throng to celebrate the annual festival of workers.

The regular meeting of the park board, scheduled for today, will be held tomorrow and the board of works will not have a session until the regular meeting scheduled for Thursday night unless some contingency makes a meeting urgent.

LOESCH IN; BENOY OUT.

Changes Takes Place in Personnel of Board of Public Works.

George H. Loesch on Saturday afternoon appeared before City Clerk W. T. Jeffries and took the oath of office as a member of the board of public works to succeed Frank T. Benoy, who resigned to become superintendent of the boiler department of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, a position he gave up at the beginning of the Grice administration to enter the service of the city. As chairman of the board since January 1, 1910, Mr. Benoy rendered faithful and valuable service to the city. His integrity has always been above question and his grasp of public work was notable. He retires to private life after having had a conspicuous part in realizing for the community one of the greatest eras of public improvement Fort Wayne has ever known. During the period of his service track elevation has been inaugurated and the grade crossings abolished on the Wabash and Pennsylvania railroads from Calhoun street to the city limits, and more miles of street pavement and public sidewalk have been laid than in any two previous administrations. The municipal lighting plant has been brought to a self-supporting basis, the city water service has been metered and improved and many other notable public improvements wrought. Gustave Schwegman succeeds Mr. Benoy as chairman of the board.

TO READVERTISE FOR BIDS.

The board of works will readvertise for bids for the work of wiring and installing the ornamental lighting on Columbia street, Harrison street from Jefferson to Columbia, Main street from Maiden Lane to Broadway, Clinton street from Columbia to Jefferson and Calhoun street from Grand to Creighton avenue. The proposals submitted by P. B. Arnold and the Hanna-Brackenridge company were rejected Saturday because too high. It is expected to make another letting the 15th inst. At next Thursday's meeting the board will consider the contract for furnishing the posts.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

The health department statistics show that for the month of August there were ninety-two deaths and 129 births.

For the month of August the receipts by the city from the public market were $201.75, a total slightly under that for the corresponding period last year, when there was one more market day.

C. B. Tolan, the city sealer, has notified all dealers on the city market that beginning next Saturday all measures that fail to conform to the standard established by the Indiana bureau of weights and measures will be condemned and destroyed.

HE DIDN'T KNOW.

IN THE CHURCHES

START SESSIONS WEDNESDAY.

Catholic Schools to Open New Term This Week.

All parish schools of the Catholic church in Fort Wayne will start their new terms on Wednesday of this week. The buildings all have been thoroughly cleaned and repaired for the coming session. Although the children will be required to start school Tuesday there will be no classes on that day, as the time will be taken for enrollment and arrangement of classes.

Some changes have been made in the curriculum of the Central Catholic high school, primarily for the purpose of enhancing the work. Mechanical drawing is to be a new subject of study, and several modifications have been made in the usual studies to create interest in the pupils. Any students who were conditioned in any subject last fall are requested to report at the school before the opening to take the necessary examinations. Brother Exupere, C. S. C., is the new superior of the school; Brother Andrew, of the normal school, Notre Dame, will take the place of Brother Marcellinus, who has been appointed a professor in Notre Dame university, and Brother Gregory, of Holy Trinity high school, Chicago, is to replace Brother Gabriel, who will go to Dacca, India, to teach in a school there.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD.

St. Andrew's Congregation Plans Annual Picnic Today.

The various booths and stands for the annual picnic of St. Andrew's Catholic church, at New Haven avenue and Lumbard street, were being prepared this morning in preparation for handling a large crowd this afternoon. The picnic grounds are located one block south of the church, and may be reached by taking the Lewis cars to the end of the line and walking a short distance south. Those on the general committee, which has charge of the event, are J. Herman Bueter, president; John Hoevel, secretary; Louis Kintz, treasurer. Other committees are composed of members of the various sodalities of the church. The Married Men's sodality has general charge of the grounds, the Married Ladies' sodality was to serve dinner and supper, the Young Ladies' sodality has charge of the serving of ice cream, and the Young Men's sodality was to be in charge of all amusements.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Ezra 1:1-11.

1 Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

3 Who is there among you of all his people? his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the Lord God of Israel, (he is the God,) which is in Jerusalem.

4 And whosoever remaineth in any place where he sojourneth, let the men of his place help him with silver, and with gold, and with goods, and with beasts, beside the freewill offering for the house of God that is in Jerusalem.

5 Then rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests, and the Levites, with all them whose spirit God had raised, to go up to build the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

6 And all they that were about them strengethened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with precious things, beside all that was willingly offered.

7 Also Cyrus the king brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Jerusalem, and had put them in the house of his gods;

8 Even those did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and numbered them unto Sheshbazzar, the price of Judah.

9 And this is the number of them: thirty chargers of gold, a thousand chargers of silver, nine and twenty knives,

10 Thirty basons of gold, silver basons of a second sort four hundred and ten, and other vessels a thousand.

11 All the vessels of gold and of silver were five thousand and four hundred. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up with them of the capitivity that were brought up from Babylon unto Jerusalem.

Labor Day and Its Holiday.

In an enlarging measure year by year the American people are coming into an appreciation of Labor day and its significance, and to a greater degree they are coming to share a deepened grasp of its significance. Originally set apart by organized labor, and still owing its existence chiefly to the men and women affiliated with the toilers' organizations, the holiday has forcefully impressed itself upon the entire people as more than merely a brief span of respite from the round of duties in shop, in factory and in store. Its significance extends much deeper than that. We dignify honest toil in America, and deservedly so. Always recognized as a necessity in the scheme of human existence, it has risen in the scale of appreciation as we have come to analyze the essential part it plays. Even the most menial of callings have been invested with a dignity which, though long denied, has always been deserved. Labor is each year approaching more nearly the high rank to which it is entitled. It is commanding respect and popular interest today as never before. This is notably emphasized in the trend toward workmen's compensation laws, toward shortening hours of labor, in insisting upon requirements for sanitation and safety during working hours and placing a new emphasis upon human values. Schools are turning attention to vocational education. They are coming into the realization of the need of equipping the pupils with a more intensely practical knowledge of doing things. They are, in truth, recognizing the necessity for labor and that in merely fitting the boy and girl to find short and easy cuts to fortune through the trick of appropriating the fruits of the toil of others they are not laying a good foundation for American citizenship. The dignity, the nobility of honest work is better understood today than ever before in American history. So, then, Labor day is in its larger sense not alone the holiday of the shopman and the mechanic. It is big enough and broad enough that every man, every woman, every boy and every girl who does useful work in any capacity may have a part in it and share in the ennobling consciousness that rewards helpful endeavor. Labor day has meant much. It will mean still more when we are able to better grasp its deepest and broadest significance.

City Chairman Thomas.

The selection of Albert E. Thomas as the city chairman of the non-partisan municipal movement in Fort Wayne would appear to be in all respects a most happy one. He possesses indomitable energy, executive ability of a very high order, and is thoroughly devoted to the principle of non-partisan action in city affairs. Like many other thoughtful men whose position has enabled them to gain information from close association as well as casual observation, Chairman Thomas has arrived at the firm conviction that the money of the tax-payers ought to purchase governmental efficiency instead of paying tribute to cheap partisanism. In common with thousands of other Fort Wayne men of every shade of political belief, he subscribes to the belief that Fort Wayne should not longer defer a duty that should have been performed long ago—that of lifting its municipal affairs out of the mire of party politics and placing them upon the basis of efficiency alone. Mr. Thomas will prove an able director in the fight for a real government of all the people, unhampered by the burdens foisted up it either by pledges to party hangers-on or through the insistent demands for reward by those who hope to reap personal benefit through license unwarranted by law.

Chicago Record-Herald:—"The report of Commissioner Worcester on slavery and peonage in the Philippine archipelago is calculated to startle those who believe that colonial administration is a simple affair and that we have practically solved every knotty problem in the far off dependency."

OUR UNPREPARED ARMY.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Whether due to the influence of environment or to a belief that official connection with the war or navy departments demands participation in the clamor for larger appropriations for his particular department of government as part of his duty, no matter how peace-loving and unmilitary a citizen may be before his appointment as secretary of war or of the navy, he quickly falls into the habit of warning the nation how utterly hopeless it would be in case of war unless it wakes up and contributes more generously to his special establishment. So it is not strange to read of Secretary Garrison telling a western audience that if a crisis should come to this country we would be absolutely unprepared to meet it.

Yet one-third of the government's revenues are being spent for military purposes. This is certainly not niggardly. In fact, for a nation so little likely to be involved in war as the United States, it is lavish and even extravagant. Let Mr. Garrison ask the army chiefs what they have been doing with all this money if we are so absolutely unprepared. If the blame rests with congressional insistence upon the retention of wasteful and useless army posts, let it be exposed and corrected. If incompetency and inefficiency are responsible, let it be shown who is at fault. The country which has so generously contributed to the maintenance of the military and naval establishments certainly is not to be blamed. It would be better to show what returns there have been for the millions already spent, what measure of efficiency they have procured, than this continual clamor for more appropriations on the pleas of our absolute unpreparedness.

EXPENSES OF CANDIDATES.

(Kansas City Star.)

Governor Simeon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, is the latest public man to advocate publicly that the state pay the expenses of candidates for nominations and of candidates for election. This is the only proper course. Reasonable restrictions—as that a man shall have a fairly large percentage of petitioners before he can be a candidate for a nomination—would avert the otherwise possible danger that anybody and everybody might run.

Governor Baldwin is reported to have urged the plan on the ground that a poor man should not be dissuaded from running for office because of the expense. There may be something in that. But the real reason why the state (that is, the people) should pay all the expenses of primary and general elections is that the offices belong to the people. A candidate that spends money or a political organization that finances a candidate assumes a proprietary interest in the office or in the government. If the law permits him or it to buy his place—for that is what it amounts to—then he has, in a certain sense, a property interest in it

Labor Miracle Wrought---Sweatshop Owners Have Reformed and They Find That Decency Pays.

DUDLEY D. SICHER, PRESIDENT OF "WHITE GOODS" MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION, WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY REFORMS. ABOVE IS MRS SARAH CHRISTOPHER, SHOWING FACTORY EMPLOYES HOW TO USE THE FIRE HOSE.

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.)

New York, Sept. 1.--Six months ago 55,000 New York white goods workers, striking for a living wage, arraigned the conditions of their industry.

Employers denied every charge.

Assuming that some were exaggerated, even false, more were overwhelmingly true.

I know, because I picketed with girl shirtwaist makers and interviewed later the best--and the worst - of the bosses.

Since then the great strike has wrought reformation in "the sweater's trade."

Conditions made public by the strikers opened the eyes of big employers. Men born on the lower east side, manufacturers made hard and careless through working women for a desperately narrow profit, have grown to realize that every benefit to the worker benefits general industry.

Fair treatment is no longer considered philanthropy, but recognized as a dollars-and-cents policy. Sweat shop conditions no longer pay.

The Cotton Garment Manufacturers of New York, Inc., is a trade association of 105 firms, employing 15,000 workers (of whom 93 per cent. are women) and doing an estimated annual business of $25,000,000.

Time was when this organization typified to the public mind a federation of sweaters. Now younger and more far-seeing men have risen to guide and control the association's trade policies.

Dudley D. Sicher, junior partner of a firm whose factory was a storm center of the strike, is one of these men.

"The strike taught us a lesson," said Mr. Sicher. "Some of us did not realize actual conditions. Familiarity breeds blindness.

"To the general public any mention of a garment manufacturer creates an instantaneous mental picture of a bloated, brutal boss, whip in hand, driving a puny child. Invariably the caricature has a Jewish face.

"As Americans, as Jews, and as employers we intend to prove it false.

"Our methods of proof are not so-called 'welfare work,' but special service; not charity, but good business.

"If the employer is to be the natural leader of industry he must study to cope directly with labor, to inspire trust in his workers. And we are learning how.

"After the Triangle tragedy the trade unanimously decided to employ Mrs. Christopher, late inspector of the New York fire department,, to organize our fire prevention. The firms paid her to teach them. Therefore, to ignore her advice was as stupid as ignoring a doctor.

"Equally, of course, girl workers appreciated her dicta: Hobble skirts, loose pumps and gasoline cleansed finery became taboo.

"From clearing factory floors of inflammamtory waste Mrs. Christopher developed into a sanitary inspector, a licensed critic of cleanliness, ventilation, lighting, even of creature comforts. For instance, our work rooms are supplied with tanks of drinking water. We added ice and their value was enhanced 100 per cent.

"It did not take long to prove in numberless ways that better conditions meant more contented employes, improved and more regular work.

"The majority of white goods workers are the daughters of foreign-born mothers who know nothing of factory conditions. Such girls need and should receive patient, trustworthy advice. A woman social secretary is a necessity.

"Our Mrs. Hill came to us to interpret the aims of the employers to the operatives, the claims of the girls to the firm. She inaugurated and is now in charge of the recreation hall, the hospital and the general health work. The expense of these efforts is inconsiderable compared merely with the commercial return.

"We have also worked out a system whereby manufacturers send girl workers to school for practical instruction, alternate weeks for two months at a time, and we pay their wages just the same. Three of the first four girls sent to school from this factory were union strike leaders. It made no difference."

Mrs. Hill, the social secretary, entered the office with quiet assurance.

"Mr. Sicher," she said, "rain threatens. About fifty of the girls are without umbrellas. I should like to buy several dozen at cost and rent them for five cents apiece."

"Why charge at all?" inquired the junior partner as one seeking information.

"Because the workers can afford it—would prefer to pay," said the social secretary and, taking $20, quickly withdrew.

"Mr. Sicher," I said, as the taxi slid to the west curb, "six months ago I picketed your door when the thug escorts of strike-breakers started a riot in the street. And now I find you buying umbrellas to save the operators' feathery hats. Why?"

"The strike taught us a lesson," answered the junior partner. "Since it ended we are agreed to disregard old scores."

THE UNITED SPECIALISTS HAVE PROVED THEIR CONTENTION

That many obstinate diseases and most conditions affecting the health, bringing the unfortunate sufferer to the brink of the grave or in many instances causing an untimely end, can be cured if only the proper methods had been used in an effort to conquer the disease.

With this object in view they have endeavored to find some way of combatting those disease that have so long proved a puzzle to the average practitioner. That they have succeeded beyond the fondest hopes is well proven by the many almost miraculous cures that they have affected since their advent into Fort Wayne and the readers of this paper have seen the many testimonials that have been published from time to time and the United Specialists are prepared to offer a reward of one thousand dollars if it can be proven that each and every testimonial published is not exactly true in every respect and signed by the person who has been so very fortunate as to have come to them for relief.

The many cured and satisfied patients that they have had is only ample evidence of their superior methods of treatment. When they start out to make a cure they accomplish the results that the patient desires. In other words if they promise a cure and the patient is sufficiently interested in his health to co-operate with them in their work, the patient gets well and there is nothing of the miraculous in their work. Nothing but supreme scientific ability coupled with an intense desire to cure the afflicted; and make their word good every time.

Their charges are always reasonable and within the reach of anyone who honestly desires a cure.

Many have supposed that on account of the fact that they have been extraordinarily successful in curing the sick and afflicted and that their methods are far in advance of the average practitioner that their charges for their work are excessive. This is not the fact and a visit to their offices at 124 East Washington boulevard will quickly prove that considering the advanced methods that they use, they really do charge an exceptionally small fee.

The results they accomplish are remarkably quick and certain, and save the patient many tedious days of treatment and the consequent suffering.

They are always willing to demonstrate to those who are interested and to prove every contention that they make. Anyone who has an interest in his health can do no better than to call on them and be shown what can actually be done for him.

Many men who have been so unfortunate as to have had to take extended treatment without satisfactory results, have been able to quickly obtain the cure they sought in a very short time, at the offices of the United Specialists and they only wish to treat those sufferers who are in earnest and feel as though they cared to make a reasonable effort to get well.

As they are very busy, they have no time to spare in talking to curiosity seekers. They make a specialty of all curable nervous and chronic diseases and can be interviewed at any time during their office hours, which are from 9 to 12, 1 to 5 and 7 to 8. Exception Sundays from 9 to 12 only.

If you want to get well you will be welcome to call and you will receive the most courteous treatment.—Adv.

SPOONING PARLOR FOR THIS CHURCH

Motion Pictures, Piano and Big Sofas to Encourage Shy Sweethearts

IS PLAN OF PASTOR'S

New York, Sept. 1.—Free "spooning parlors" with a tactful chaperon within call, a piano to stir sentimentality, a safe as reminder that marriage means thrift or disaster, expert advice on how to propose and every other wholesome aid that warm love for his fellow man may suggest are part of the scheme of the Rev. John R. Gunn, pastor of the North Baptist church, No. 234 West Eleventh street. His is no sudden notion, but the result of long and prayerful thought.

"There are countless working girls living in furnished rooms who cannot receive young men in them and keep their reputations," Mr. Gunn said. "They are entitled to have some place where they may enjoy the advantages that help their more fortunate sisters to happy wifehood.

"The church baptizes the infant, confirms the young, weds men and women and performs the last rites over the dead. There is no reason that it should not take up this other important office for humanity."

"Spooning parlors" is the name Mr. Gunn has chosen after giving the subject careful consideration. He believes in calling things by their right names and as his purpose is frankly to supply a place for young men and girls to gather with an idea of promoting affection that may spring up to its natural and proper result, he has resolved not to seek any mask of title for the scene of those activities.

Two large rooms, with a wide opening between them, in the rear of the prayer meeting hall of the church, are to be the "spooning parlors." They are comfortably furnished and provided with an ample supply of sofas. These rooms have been little used in the church work heretofore, but Mr. Gunn expects them to change entirely in this respect within a few weeks.

Illumination of the spooning parlors is one of the details on which this clerical confederate of Cupid has not yet decided. The rooms are now supplied with both electric light and gas fixtures. Everybody knows that electric lights can be covered with shades and gas lights can be turned low.

"We will have to see how things go before we can decide about the lights," Mr. Gunn said. "But all such matters will arrange themselves, I am sure.

"Look at these two comfortable rooms! Isn't it a shame to have hundreds of young men and women of the right sort sitting on park benches even in the coldest weather when they might be in here?

"May they hold hands? Of course they may," and he smiled at Mrs. Gunn. Their courting was done not so many years ago in the south. It was quite evident while Mr. Gunn talked of his first aid for sweethearts project that he regards matrimony as the most blessed human state. His three fine children presented convincing arguments to back his views.

"How about kissing?" the reporter said rather apologetically. Maybe Mr. Gunn did not hear the question. It is still unanswered.

Getting ready this laboratory for the making of two hearts to beat as one is the summer vacation of Mr. Gunn. His most careful thought is being given to the means whereby the spooning parlor may attract those for whose benefit he has designed it.

Some changes already have been made in the fittings of the rooms where love is to be welcomed. They are comfortable and homelike and the several pictures hung on the walls are subjects likely to turn the mind toward thoughts of peaceful domesticity.

The piano ought to help, Mr. Gunn thinks, and he is going to leave it in the parlor. There are many girls who never owned a piano who have fine voices, and if they want to help along by singing "Annie Laurie," or "Every Lassie Had Her Lassie" they will have a chance to play an accompaniment. If all goes well that piano will be almost able to play "Here Comes the Bride" by itself before next summer.

DRAKE SWINDLE UP AGAIN.

"Heirs" of Great Admiral Hear English Property is Theirs.

London, Sept. 1.—Certain anxious heirs in the United States who have been informed by a firm of attorneys that the estate of the great English navigator, Sir Francis Drake, is ready for distribution will be disappointed to learn that the most diligent search has failed to reveal the existence of this property. The American embassy in London has recently received a number of letters from people in New York saying that certain persons representing themselves as the American attorneys for the Drake estate had informed them that their claims to the property of the scourge of the Spanish main could be substantiated. The attorneys demanded a percentage of the estate and, incidentally, a few dollars in advance to defray the expense of collection. An investigation at Somerset House, where all estate records are kept, does not reveal the slightest foundation for the claims of the New York attorneys and if Sir Francis left any estate it was distributed to his heirs several hundred years ago.

The output of lead, zinc, copper, silver and iron ore of Missouri in 1912 was worth $34,958,421.

CHARMING STYLES IN FALL HATS

One of the new fall black velvet hats which Virot is featuring is rather larger than we have been wearing this summer. It also rolls away from the face more. This will have the tendency to make one look older.

Black and white will be much worn, and the Virot hat is trimmed with white ostrich feathers about the rim and a bunch of ostrich quills with the fluffy feathers at the tips.

Girls will wear gray much this winter. A young girl's hat of dark gray velvet is made in Tam O'Shanter fashion, with a roll of white satin on the edge of the rim and a flat white bow at the side. With this is worn gray and white squirrel skins dyed to simulate chinchilla.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Wolf" Again This Evening.

"The Wolf," one of the most important productions as well as one of the big dramatic successes of the year, will be presented at the Majestic again tonight with an all-star cast. "The Wolf" is a romantic drama of the Hudson Bay LFur company in three acts and three scenes, by Eugene Walter. Mr. Walter is an author who strikes hard, and he is said to handle the story with a directness that is courageous, but does not offend. The story concerns the vengeance wreaked upon an American civil engineer, who, years before the story opens, had deserted a half breed girl of the far north. The girl, Annette, dies in a storm, but in Montreal there lives a half brother who has promised his dying father to search for the girl. He discovers that MacDonald is the man he seeks, and that he is tempting Hilda, the daughter of a Scotch settler, whom he (Jules Beaubien) loves.

"Little Lost Sister" Tuesday and Wednesday.

During the period when theatrical managers were gradually getting over a long snooze a little girl, Miss Virginia Brooks by name, was hitting the high spots in uncovering vice. She missed nothing which was worth missing. The public were informed of the terrible existing conditions in the red light district of Chicago, but this girl was not a playwright.

She wrote a story called "Little Lost Sister." That story has been dramatized and along with the other vice plays it is being presented to the public this season. The play is good. At least critics in Chicago have declared that every person in the country should see it. Why not you?

AT THE TEMPLE

Maintaining the high standard which signalized the opening of the Temple theater a week ago, the management of that popular playhouse is offering for the first half of this week, five excellent acts which make as good a vaudeville performance as one could wish to see.

The feature act of this week's bill is a comedy sketch called "Monday." It is presented by O'Brien, Havel & Co. The scene is laid in the Green Room of a vaudeville theater in New York city and shows the theater on a Monday morning when the acts are arriving for rehearsals.

Fields and Allen have a singing and talking skit which they call "The Salesman and the Valet." Mr. Fields has shown in Fort Wayne on eleven different occasions and has always been a favorite here.

Cal Callaway is a handsome young chap with an even better voice. He renders four songs in his charming way and is a big hit.

The Goyt Trio, a man and two finely trained dogs open the show and in this act the Temple has one of the best opening acts they could possibly have obtained. The dogs are trained to such a degree that they do tricks in the balancing line that some of the best performers in the country have found it hard to do. This act is sure to be a big hit with the kiddies.

The Rose troupe, "The Rising Generation," close the show. They mix comedy with acrobatic work and are sure to please.

AT THE EMPRESS

One of the leading musical comedy teams on the Sullivan and Considine circuit are Monte Brooke and Bert Harris, who are now at the Empress. Brooke and Harris call their act "The One and the Other," and the act is novel and original, as its name. Monte Brooke will be remembered by playgoers as one of the best end men that ever held down an end in the most famous minstrel organization of the country, while Bert Harris was for two seasons very prominent in many New York musical comedy productions. These two clever entertainers have struck an entirely new idea for their funny dialogue, they have really originated a subject for fun that for years was prominent in the public mind, but on account of its very prominence was overlooked by the writers and funsters of the stage. New songs, new dances and clever originality of dialogue and patter has made this team of the best and most sought for in vaudeville.

AT THE JEFFERSON

The offering at the Jefferson is the Gaumont Weekly live news events, and an Imp, "The Trail of the Serpent," a society thrill that thrills. The Jeff Quartet and Rae Collins will take care of the vocal part of the program. Tuesday comes an out of the ordinary production entitled "The Better Father;" this in two reels and a punch in every inch. Wednesday comes "Fighting Crime" or "Saved by the Juvenile Court," in three reels. This is the greatest crime picture ever produced, as the scenes were taken in the dives of the underworld and among the slums.

POTPOURRI.

To make potpourri, take the sweetest full blown roses, lavender flowers and stalks, jessamine, lemon verbena, bergamot and any other sweet smelling flowers and leaves. They should be gathered on a fine morning, so as to be free from any moisture. Pull the flowers to pieces, spread the petals on trays and put the trays in a sunny place until the petals are perfectly dry.

Then add cloves, orris root, pimento, sandalwood respings, musk, cedar shavings and cinnamon in about the proportion of half an ounce each to half a pound of the dried flowers.

Bruise them slightly and mix them with the flowers, then place them all in jars.

Care must be taken that the flowers are absolutely dry before putting them in the jars, as otherwise they will very soon smell mouldy.

A small square cushion, which should be especially nice for a guest room, is covered with blue silk and over this a filet lace cover of white is drawn. This dainty little bit of blue and white is then supplied with blue and white-headed pins, neatly arranged, all ready for the guest's use.

Madame Catherine's Chat:

"Luck in odd numbers, eh?" said the customer to whom Madame Catherine was describing the advantages of the new shop at 113 West Wayne street, to be opened the middle of September.

"We have had tremendous success at 109 Washington, and we expect twice as much in our new home," agreed Madame. "It's because we want everything new and fresh that we have been selling our corsets, brassieres, accessories and little novelties at such ridiculously low prices during August," she explained. "We plan not to take a single thing away with us, and shall get rid of them by marking the prices way down."

"Good time to lay in a stock of brassieres, it strikes me," ruminated her visitor. "Those never really go out of style, for one wears them out before they grow passe."

"Yes," assented the proprietor of the shop, "we are selling them by the half dozen to women like yourself, who appreciate a bargain."

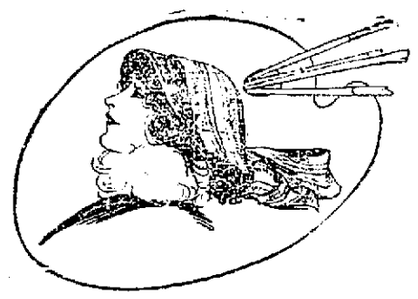
"A half dozen it shall be," she laughed, "providing you can fit me."

"Here is a whole box of your number," declared Madame. "I can give you lace or embroidery for trimming, and front or back closing for style."

"I'll take the embroidery finish, for I find it stands the wear and tear of careless laundering better than the lace edges."—Adv.

Fall Fashions in Millinery

First Showing of Ideal American Hats



The American woman, dressed to the apex of American fall fashion, is a picture, a poem, a composite of all the world's ideals of fashions, squared by our American sense of fitness into smart American styles. Perfect, from the tip of her dainty American shoe to the top of her glorious American head, which is framed in one of our model Fall Hats.

Fall styles are conservative. Medium-sized shapes, graceful lines, soft crowns, simple trimmings. Rich, deep colorings are a feature of the new shapes. Plum, prunella, gold and tete de negre brown, taupe and rich navy are all favored, and black is highly esteemed in combination with brightly colored trimmings. Highly colored shapes with trimmings toned to match.

Converted Oriental styles, modernized ancients induced by the profuse use of plush, velvets, soft ribbons, retyped to suit the American style of beauty. Plaid ribbons are in favor in every fashionable center, also cashmere designs. Many kinds of feathers. Paradise Goura and Fancy Ostrich.

Our first showing of fashions in Autumn millinery as exemplified in our millinery department, is hereby announced. At this exposition American fashion in hats is formally introduced. Together with original American models are a few dashing Paris styles and more than a few copies, but American fashions for Americans are the class as well as the quality of the display.

REAL FASHIONS ON REAL PEOPLE.

The most observed of the fashionable women at the national tennis tournament was Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, mother of Vincent Astor, who has walked in after a long stay abroad and captured the social supremacy of Newport.

Mrs. Astor has an international reputation of dressing in the best taste and it may surprise to see how simply both she and the young girl, Miss Annie Rowell, who was with her, were dressed.

Mrs. Astor wore a white linen skirt—severely tailored without the slit. A soft batiste waist and a rather large black hat trimmed with black velvet was also worn.

She carried a black velvet parasol, and through her black lace veil she looks decidedly youthful, although her hair is almost white.

BOND PIANO CO. FT. WAYNE INDIANA

Most cheap pianos are more expensive than high priced ones. What little musical virtue they have at first tinkles out in a few months. The Bond is the least expensive piano ever offered in any market because it is a high priced piano sold at a low price. It gives you good music that will last, at a price that puts it within the reach of all. The more you investigate this statement, the more certain you are to prove to your own satisfaction that it is true.

How to Get Rid of Eczema

If you bruise your hand, you will notice that a scab forms, and when it falls off, new skin has formed. Did salve do it? No! Skin is the same as muscle, bone, sinew, ligament. All are made from the blood, from the materials that your stomach and intestines convert from food into what we call blood. And this blood circulates in the myriad of tiny blood vessels in the skin. Start from your stomach, where blood materials begin, and it won't be long before you are free of eczema. Use S. S. S. for a short time, and not only will eczema disappear, but the entire Blood will be renewed.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy, judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and you will not only feel bright and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 189 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Beware of any attempt to sell you something "just as good."

IS IT FOOLISH TO WORK? IS IT FOOLISH TO LOAF?

Here are the Opinions of a Man Who Never Worked a Day in His Life and of a Man Who Never Missed a Day's Work in Fifty Years

"WINDY BILL" SAWYER.

FROM THE MAN WHO NEVER WORKED IN HIS LIFE.

(By Fred L. Boalt.)

"Windy Bill" Sawyer, who never works, has granted me an interview on work.

"'Windy,'" shouted the bartender, "here's a gent wants to talk to you."

"Windy Bill's" elbows were hooked over the bar. Standing that way is nearly as easy as lying down.

"All right," said "Windy," without turning his head or changing position.

"Labor day?" he repeated after me, sleepily. Labor—day? So it is."

"Work?" he repeated after me again. "Work? Certainly. * * * The bartender is a workingman, but at the moment he is unoccupied. * * * Just so. Shove it along yourse.

"Yes, I speak as an expert. I shall, of course, speak of 'work' only in the abstract. You see before you" this proudly "a man who has never worked with his hands. It is not because I am lazy that I do not work. It is because I suffer from inertia.

"I went to college once.

"I learned—and forgot—much. I have not forgotten, however, the definition of 'inertia.' It is a property of matter by which it tends to preserve a state of rest until the matter is impelled to movement by a force stronger than itself.

"The secret of my success is that I have always been able to dodge that force always, that is, but once."

"Windy Bill's" voice was sad.

"I have a brother in Chicago. Poor fool, he is very rich. He suffers from nerves and will send me no more money. I have neither money nor nerves.

"It is silly to work. It is foolish to live in houses and cities. If we were wise we would live under fruit trees and wait for the ripe fruit to fall. Under present abnormal conditions I make the best of a bad business and get along nicely without working.

"I am the proprietor of the Hotel de Sawyer. It is a houseboat on the tide-flats. A man built it. Foolish man. Then a fit of restlessness seized him and he went away. I am never restless. I came along and took possession of the houseboat built by another's labor.

"At the Hotel de Sawyer I have a razor—nothing more. The hotel is convenient to the railroad yards. All the tramps on the Pacific coast know the Hotel de Sawyer, and real tramps shave.

"They come to the hotel and they say: "'Windy,' let's use your razor.'

"'Certainly,' I say, 'but first you must saw wood.'

"The incoming tide bears driftwood to my door. The tramps saw it for me. I sit on the doorstep. Then come other houseboat and shantymen and say: "'Windy,' sell us some wood.'

"My guests stay sometimes as long as a week. They shave twice in that time. They sleep on the floor. Every day they saw driftwood.

"I come now, to the one blot on my escutcheon.

"Some years ago I wandered west. I fell asleep on a train in Kansas. A brakeman kicked me off while the train was moving.

"I wanted to get on to the next town. I saw a farmer. He was digging a ditch. I didn't want to do it. But I was hungrier than I had ever been in my life before. And and—I dug the ditch! I have to confess it. I dug the ditch!

FROM THE MAN WHO WORKED EVERY DAY FOR FIFTY YEARS

By W. H. Auburn.

For fifty years John Kennedy, of Toledo, Ohio, has driven a wagon for an express company without ever missing a day, without ever losing a package, without ever being late to work and without ever being called down. He probably holds the record in the United States.

On August 12 the company retired Kennedy and pensioned him. But Kennedy refused to retire, in spite of his seventy-five years.

"You see," he explained when trailed to the Union station, "I sort o' feel as though I ought to be on the job. The force is busy when the fast trains between New York and Chicago come through, and the company has a lot of valuable stuff in the station with no one to watch it. So I hang around an' make myself useful."

"But after fifty years' work don't you think you deserve a vacation?" he was asked.

"Vacation—vacation?" he repeated, twisting his bony hands around his thin knee. "I dunno. I never had a vacation. An' I wouldn't know what to do with one.

"I've never done anything but work, an' never wanted to do anything else. I guess the Lord made me feel like workin', an' so every workin' day for fifty years

"Let me tell you this, young man. I've done a heap o' thinkin' in fifty years o' drivin' around, an' I know that work's the only thing that keeps a man contented. Ye ain't got time to think o' troubles an' devilry if ye keep your mind on your work.

"Laborin' every day, hard, makes a man happy.

"I can't just explain it in words, but there's a sort o' feelin' comes over you that everything is goin' just about right, an' you're helpin' people to do things, an' livin' the way human beings was meant to live.

"Y' know, I feel sorry for those fellers that just loaf around all day. When they go home nights, if they got a home to go to, what can they say they've done that day?"

Old John threw his head back proudly, and there was fire in his eyes.

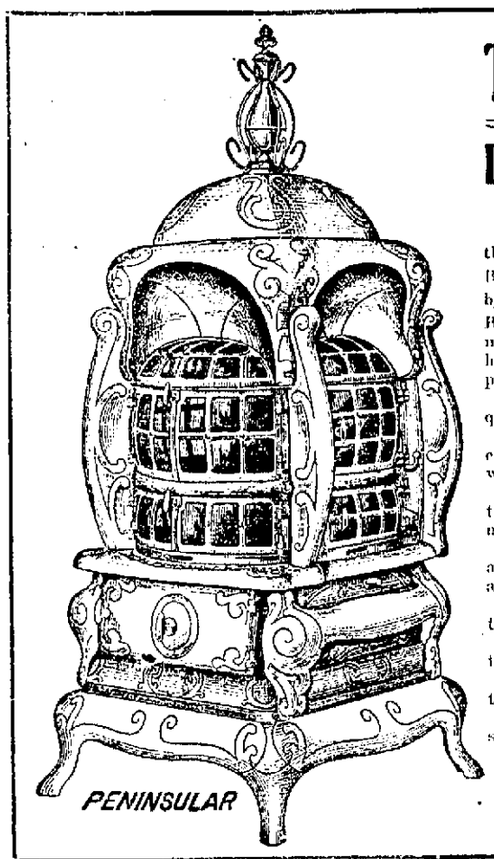
"And say—if it's health you're lookin' for, don't you know that work's the best medicine there is, for mind an' body? If you don't believe it look at me!

"I've never been sick a day in my life. Work—just common, every-day work—has kept the doctors and undertakers off'n me."

JOHN KENNEDY.

September and Stoves

As soon as the first day of September arrives one is immediately reminded of cold weather, which naturally leads to the heating of the home. Don't delay in selecting your Heating Stove. You can't tell when the cold weather will be upon us, and when it comes you want to be prepared. If you select a Base Burner or Range now and pay a small deposit on it we will put it aside and have it all ready for you when you want it.



The Reflex Peninsular Double Heating Base Burner

The heating problem, viz., getting the greatest results from the least amount of fuel, is solved by the Reflex Peninsular Base Burner. This stove is the result of comprehensive study by heating engineers of ability whose object in building Base Burners is to cause heat to be reflected and diffused in such a manner as to extract to the best advantage every unit of heat from each pound of fuel. The result: This stove is perfect to the smallest detail.

Fire Pots are full size and can be removed easily and quickly.

Improved Duplex Grate. With one turn of the crank clinkers and dead ashes are cut out and dropped into the ash pan without disturbing the bed of the fire.

Ash pits are extra large and being deep and high eliminate the danger of grates burning out by ashes banking underneath.

Mica doors and joints are carefully fitted. This is important, as tight fitting joints and doors are essential to perfect operation.

A double heating pipe can be attached to the hot air flue to conduct heat to rooms above.

Automatic absolutely tight gas cover rises and falls with the swinging of the top.

Either stove or chestnut coal can be burned by changing the magazine.

Clean-out door is conveniently located at the front of the stove, providing easy access to the bottom flues for cleaning.

HAD A HANDICAP WITH THAT JINX

Core and Koehler Out of Lineup When Smith Fell Once More.

GOT A DANDY START

Ed Smith, manager-owner-pitcher of the champion Grand Rapids club, had to carry an additional handicap to that awful jinx of his in an attempt yesterday to break a record by winning a game here and once more he went down in defeat, this time by a total of 7 to 4.

In the first Ben Koehler was absent from the line-up and so was John "Lefty" Core, and there is no telling what these eminent stick artists might have done had they been present. At the same time it must be remembered that Louis Loudermilk displayed a line of hurling that would have been hard to beat no matter who was in the opposing ranks.

For four innings Smith battled with the jinx and held his own, yielding a hit each in the first three and none in the fourth. In the fifth Harry Martin started the blowoff with a hit to right. Loudermilk popped to the pitcher in an effort to sacrifice, but O'Mara hit and Colligan was passed. Martin went to third on O'Mara's hit and the latter stole second, scoring on Welsh's hit. Tuman was passed and Anderson hit, sending Welsh home, and then Bratchi forced Anderson and was caught trying to steal second.

O'Mara's wild throw on Mee's grounder sent the runner to second in the sixth, and an out and Grimes' hit scored him. Fort Wayne added three in the seventh. O'Mara picked off a single and Colligan beat a bunt. McGraw threw wild in a belated effort to catch the runner, and each of them took an extra base. Welsh was passed and O'Mara counted on Tuman's sacrifice fly. Anderson got his second pinch hit and sent two more runners over.

In the eighth Larry Lejeune pulled a hit over left field fence, a feat that has had few parallels in the game. Smith opened the inning with a hit and with two gone advanced a base on Grimes' infield hit. Lejeune chased both of them over with his long home run. The score:

MOTHER OF EIGHTEEN CHILDREN.

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Va. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 168 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." TERRE HAUTE IS COMING.

Tots Will Open Three-Day Stand on the Local Lot Tomorrow Afternoon.

Edward J. Anderson and his troupe of trained Hotentots, will open a three-day stand on the local ball yard to-morrow afternoon and the fighting manager promises some good baseball. He is out to capture the tail end place in the first division, with a bare chance to do it.

He and his players are just as popular with Jimmy Burke and his Rillikens as Senator Tillman would be at a negro camp meeting and the local troupe will do all in its power to keep him out of the position he is trying for.

This will be the last appearance here this year of Anderson and his men and if they play the same kind of ball they played at home against the local team there ought to be something worth seeing.

THIRD SWITCH IS MADE.

Griffin Is Going to Referee Match at Oakland Today.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 1.—An eleventh hour switch found Jim Griffin installed this afternoon as the third man in the ring for the ten-round go between Ad Wolgast and Joe Azevedo. Frank Schuler had been selected but Wolgast suddenly changed his mind. Wolgast said this morning that he was in prime condition, but his supporters expressed some uneasiness regarding the hand he injured in training at Los Angeles. Azevedo has trained faithfully for today's bout. The early betting was 2 to 1 on Wolgast.

RIVALS IN GREAT WORLD'S SERIES

Plank and Marquard, Will Resume the Southpaw Duel, Started in 1911, and Odds Favor the Latter.

When McGraw and Mack work their left-handers in the world's series, two of the greatest southpaws that ever mounted the hill will oppose each other. In Rube Marquard, of the Giants and Eddie Plank, of the Athletics.

This pair met in the second game of the Giants-Athletics' series two years ago and Plank was victorious. He had the Giants "eating out of his hand" and, although he was touched for one more hit than Marquard, he was more effective with men on bases.

Another story may be related this fall. Plank has not been going at his former invincible pace of late, and unless he gets a needed rest will be stale when the series opens, and Marquard, who won both of his games from Boston last fall, is apt to reverse the decision.

PAIR OF RIDERS ESCAPED INJURY

Two Motorcyclists Went Through Fence During Race at Park.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS

Luck was with the promoters of the motorcycle races at the Fort Wayne driving park yesterday and although two men went through the fence at the fatal east turn of the dusty track, neither was hurt seriously.

Miller struck Creviston at the start of the thirty-first mile because the blinding dust prevented him from seeing the man ahead of him and both ran off the track but nothing serious happened to either.

A big crowd was out to see the races and interest centered in Kell, the local rider, who has been in hard luck all season, and who registered his first important victory of the year in the ten-mile event in 9:33 2-5.

The hundred mile race went to Perry, a professional rider, with Roe, another professional, second. The results for the day are as follows:

One Hundred Mile.

Perry, of Joliet, Ill., first; Roe, Chicago, second; Smith, Celina, O., third; Allen, Oddell, Ill., fourth. Time—1:46:57 2-5.

Ten Mile Stock.

Perry, Joliet, first; Allen, Oddell, second; Baker, Indianapolis, third. Time—9:33 2-5.

Ten Mile, Ported, Open.

Kell, Fort Wayne, first; Creviston, Cleveland, second; Ellis, Indianapolis, third. Time—9:25 1-5.

Time Trials.

Creviston, 54 second; Taylor, Middletown, O., 54 2-5, and Kell, Fort Wayne, 55 seconds.

CHARLTON UNDER INQUIRY.

American Prisoner in Italy Maintains His Self Possession.

Como, Italy, Sept. 1.—Porter Charlton, the young American who was recently extradited from the United States to stand trial here on a charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como in 1910, was subjected today to a lengthy preliminary interrogation. Judge Rognoni, the examining magistrate; Signor Mellini, Charlton's counsel, accompanied by a clerk and an interpreter, appeared at the prison soon after the breakfast hour. During the examination Charlton was self possessed. The prison officials declare that thus far they have not observed any sign of mental deficiency. The result of the preliminary examination as well as the investigation of the affair by the detectives is to be kept secret. In judicial circles it is understood that the trial is to take place in November.

APPEALS TO THE HEAD OF LEAGUE

OTHER TEAMS STOOD IT

Philadelphia, Sept. 1.—William F. Baker, acting president of the Philadelphia club, expects to lay before President Lynch, of the National league, today, the local club's side of the trouble at the ball grounds here last Saturday when Umpire Brennan forfeited the game to New York. The forfeiture was made because the Philadelphia club failed to remove from the section in center field spectators who it was claimed, interfered with the vision of batsmen and umpire. Manager Dooin, who is in Brooklyn with his team, may also see the league president. Philadelphia's formal protest against the loss of the game has already been forwarded to league headquarters.

Manager Dooin before leaving for Brooklyn called attention to the fact that spectators occupied the same center field seats the day Chicago won a double-header from Philadelphia, and also on the day Pittsburg took two games from the Phillies. Umpire O'Day officiated behind the plate in the Chicago double-header and Brennan called balls and strikes in one of the Pittsburg games, but neither objected to spectators sitting in that part of the bleachers, according to Dooin. He said that if Saturday's forfeit stands because of the spectators sitting on a line with the batter then the double header won by Pittsburg and Chicago from Philadelphia should also be thrown out for the same reason.

TUTWEILER IS AT FIRST.

Guy Tutweiler is evidently pleasing Hughey Jennings at first as he is still playing the bag. In Chicago yesterday he drove in a run with one of his two hits.

MAISEL UNDER A HEAVY HANDICAP

Washington Experts Do Not Believe He Will Hold His Job.

REASONS ARE GIVEN

Washington, Sept. 1.—Fritz Maisel, who played in the Wheeling infield several years ago, and who was landed by the New York Americans for $12,500 in cash and Players Midkiff and Daniels, may make good, but if he does he will fool some Washington baseball writers who run over to Baltimore every once in a while to see the International leaguers in action. They say that he is a pretty fielder, but isn't apt to do much at the bat as he is weak on a curve ball.

Clark Griffith has another reason for believing that Maisel will not make good, and that is the record price paid for him.

"There are exceptions to all rules," declared Griffith, "and I have one of the exceptions in Gandil, and McGraw has the other in Marquard; but you take it as a general thing and the boy that brings the smashing price proves the biggest lemon. Look at what the real stars cost—nothing, absolutely nothing. What did Baker cost Connie Mack? What did Mathewson cost the Giants? What did Johnson cost me? Nothing worth worrying about, that's sure.

"Now take the boys that bring the prices. There's O'Toole—he cost $22,500 and he's just an ordinary pitcher, nothing to brag about. One day he looks like a wonder and the next a dub. Then take Russell Blackburn—he fell through. And Lefty Russel didn't stick very long.

"The two who brought the prices who have made good are Marquard and Gandil. The Giants paid $11,0000 for Marquard, and he had to sit on the bench three years before he delivered—had to learn baseball all over. The Giants tried to release him a dozen times, but could never get waivers.

"We paid the equal of $12,000 in cash and players for Gandil, and Chick was a sensation right off the reel; but he and Marquard are the exceptions. Maybe Maisel and Chappelle, the 1913 high priced players, will deliver, but if they do they'll be two more exceptions to prove the general rule that the players who don't cost much deliver the best baseball."

OSBORNE LEADING LEAGUE.

Winnie Osborne, who started his baseball career here as a member of the Fort Wayne club, is batting .314 and leading the American association. He is playing the outfield at Louisville.

SPRINGFIELD IS OUT OF RUNNING

Loss to Evansville is Blow to Hopes of the Reaper Squad.

PIEH WINS THE FINAL

Springfield has not had a real good chance at second place for the last ten days but what little it had went glimmering when Evansville came from behind in the Sabbath struggle and scored ten runs after the Reapers had taken a strong lead in the early rounds of the battle.

If Fort Wayne should lose all of its remaining games and Springfield should get through with a string of straight victories the team could nose Fort Wayne out, but there is little chance for this as all except two of the remaining Fort Wayne games are with second division clubs and all are to be played on the home lot.

Sloan started for Evansville and was bounced in the third inning, and then young Spaid took a hand but he didn't last long and Jake Fromholz finished the struggle.

Hixon was started in the fray but he got to the fourth inning and was stopped in favor of Duffy, who went the remainder of the route but was not effective.

Pieh bowed his farewell at Dayton when he pitched his club to a victory over Terre Haute and left last night to give Frank Chance an opportunity to look over him before the close of the American league season. The scores:

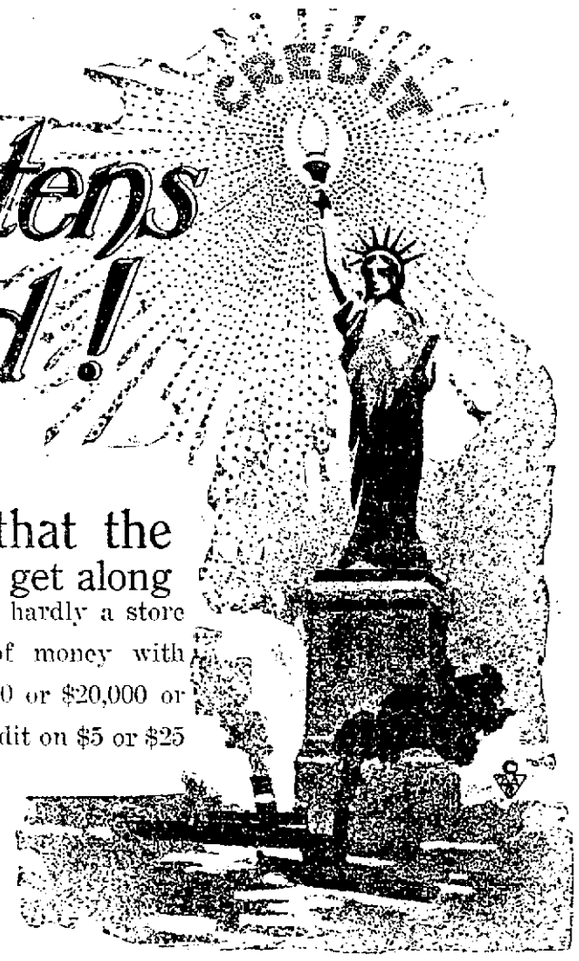
Credit Enlightens the World!



We'll Trust You

The laboring man may not know that the storekeeper who refuses him credit, couldn't get along unless credit was extended to him by the manufacturer. There is hardly a store in Fort Wayne that doesn't ask credit from the bank—the loan of money with which to do business. Now then, if the storekeeper asks for $10,000 or $20,000 or $100,000 credit, why shouldn't he be willing to extend to you a credit on $5 or $25 or $100 worth of merchandise—especially if the merchandise remains security for payment? Come on, we'll help you.

Your Credit is Good

FAMOUS STRING OF HORSES COMING

Hoagland's Crack Kentucky Thoroughbreds at Fort Wayne Fair.

OTHER BIG FEATURES

When Hoagland's string of sixteen crack Kentucky thoroughbreds go through their paces at the Fort Wayne fair during the week September 16 to 20, fair goers will be treated to a feature that proved the biggest thing at the Cleveland fair, according to Manager P. T. Strieder, who has just returned from the big Ohio show. Mr. Strieder says that although last week was Cleveland's first attempt in the fair line, another year will see the show eclipsing completely the Ohio state fair at Columbus. While in Cleveland he booked horses from the Vance Nuchols' and Harrington stables for the race meet to be held in conjunction with the coming fair and secured several pike concessions. "This Hoagland horse show is about the best thing of its character I ever saw," Mr. Strieder said today. "The animals are perfectly trained and Cleveland fair goers were wild about them."

After a couple of weeks of "ifs" and "ands" Traveling Passenger Agent Frank Parnin, of the Nickel Plate, finally has received official word that he can have coaches sufficient for two trains, one to be run from Knox and the other from Hammond, to Fort Wayne on "Nickel Plate day," Thursday, September 18. These trains will arrive early enough in the morning to give the excursionists an opportunity to do some shopping in the city before repairing to the grounds and will leave early enough in the evening to get the passengers back to their homes before midnight. The Knox train will leave at 6:10 o'clock, arriving here at 8:30 in the morning, while the Hammond train will make up at 6:30 o'clock and reach here at 10:30 in the morning. The trains will leave at 7 and 7:10 o'clock in the evening. "Nickel Plate day" has come to be one of the fair's big institutions and annually the company has been bringing from 3,000 to 4,000 strangers into the city on this one excursion. This year Mr. Parnin says he expects not less than 4,000 and that he will provide coaches enough for 4,500.

When relieved of military duty as instructor at the college, he was ordered to the Mexican border, where he is stationed at present.

Officers of the association are:: Charles J. Scheimann, president; Dr. H. A. Duemling, vice president; Captain Charles E. Reese, secretary; Paul Hoppe, treasurer; Prof. William Kruse, biographer, and Professor Louis Dorn, editor of "The Concordianer," the official publication.

HELD FOR AUTO KILLING.

Robert Leak, Wealthy Benton County Farmer, Under Arrest.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 1.—Robert Leak, 55, a wealthy retired farmer of Ambia, Benton county, was arrested yesterday at his home by Captain John Kluth, of the Lafayette police department, on a warrant charging manslaughter. He is alleged to have been the driver of the big touring car that Thursday night struck and overturned a machine driven by Owen Nichols, killing Nichols, and that sped away into the darkness without stopping to investigate the accident. The Lafayette police have worked on the case constantly since the accident and assert Leak is responsible for the accident.

FIREMEN AND COPS FIGHT.

Lovely Little Mix Between Departments at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 1.—Members of the police and fire departments came to blows here yesterday morning during a small fire when a police officer interfered with a fireman who had gotten into a quarrel with the manager of a small theater that was burning, and several were hurt. Detective L. C. Clark, his son, Walter P. Clark, and Firemen Curtin and George Foltz are implicated, and Mayor Durgan has ordered an investigation by the board of works.

The annual picnic of the Saxonia Singing society was held Sunday at Germania park and was largely attended. A lengthy program of songs was the principal feature of the celebration.

GREATEST DEATH LURE IN AMERICA—FINDING DEATH BY HURTLING THROUGH AWFUL SPACE.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Henry Korthagen ascended to the observatory of the Masonic Temple the other day. From the lofty platform the view was fascinating.

A spirit of exultation seized him. Down there men and women were scurrying about, driven by hum-drum cares, vexed by disease and fear, or following petty pleasures. Two million little people in an ant hill! And he sat there in lofty superiority, far above them all.

The spirit of space had touched his fancy. His spirit took wings. He was no longer conscious of his body. He was poised in the air—he could float and soar in the air—he could float and soar in his ecstasy—and the spirit beckoned him out—out—

A dentist smoking an after-lunch cigarette at an open window of the tenth story saw a human form flash past, followed by a hat.

"There goes another," he said. Then there was a sound below like the popping of a paper bag.

He was the latest victim of the death lure that lurks in high places. Many before him had leaped from that tall temple, and many will follow him.

What the fabled Lorelei was to the boatmen of the Rhine, what the sirens were to the ancient Greeks, the spirit of space is to modern city dwellers when they suddenly find themselves looking down from high places.

Every great building numbers its victims. The Washington monument has iron bars in its windows to keep visitors from leaping out. So has the Bunker Hill monument. But on the roofs of skyscrapers there can be no such protection.

In one year nearly a dozen persons have leaped to death from Chicago's Masonic Temple. It is coming to be called the greatest death lure in America.

Why do people jump to death from here?

"A suicide mania," some alienists call it.

"The fear of height," say others.

The evolutionists say it is the lingering instinct to fly, inherited from a far distant time when we were like birds or bats or flying lizards; that the forgotten impulse of millions of years ago suddenly surges up and drives us to destruction.

But the Spirit of Space does not explain. She only smiles.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

HUNTINGTON HAS SENSATION.

First Real Slit Skirt Causes a Mild Riot There.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 1.—A black slit-skirt and a white-stockinged leg peeping daintily, yet at times even brazenly, through, caused a near riot on the crowded streets of Huntington. It was the initial appearance of the first real slit-skirt in Huntington and there was much craning of necks, even to the point of dislocation, to see the apparition.

The remarkable display of colors and —and—well the slit became evident at the corner of Market and Jefferson streets when Traffic Policeman Charles Bucher saw a crowd gathering. He investigated and saw the riot of the commotion was a group of morbid young men gazing down the street at the new tangled attire. The crowd dispersed on the arrival of the policeman but the skirt continued to be an attraction on the streets during the remainder of the evening. The brave young thing is well known in the city.

WILL BE GREAT REUNION.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—Besides the prospect that the coming reunion of the 88th regiment will be the last reunion to be held by this famous regiment of Indiana volunteer infantrymen, Adjutant O. H. Widney, of Auburn, has in his comments on the approaching event pointed to the fact that the reunion will be in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Perryville, fought on October 7, 1863. Despite the fact that the fiftieth anniversary of the carnage will have passed on the day immediately prior to the coming reunion, the next meeting of the regiment will be none the less memorable.

TOT SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 1.—The 4-year-old daughter of Charles Mock, living in Stringtown, was saved from drowning by Homer Clark, rural route mail carrier. Mr. Clark was driving out the Stringtown pike and heard a child scream. He got out of his buggy and went toward the source of the scream and found the little girl struggling in the water of the fish pond on the Mock farm. He waded into the pond and rescued her. When she was taken from the pond a great deal of water had been swallowed by her and it was necessary to use artificial respiration to get it from her body. The little girl is much better.

THE CITY REGISTRATION.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 1.—Huntington voters will not have to register for the city election Nov. 4, according to the statutes as interpreted by Mayor Milo Feightner and other city officials. Many questions were being asked members of the city government if the city would be required to hold a registration for the election. The statutes provide that in cities of the first and second class it is mandatory that they hold a registration day, but in cities of 45,000 and below it is not necessary to register.

FARM BARN BURNS.

Hicksville, O., Sept. 1.—The large barn on the Jacob Kisabeth farm five miles northeast of Hicksville was completely destroyed by fire. Mr. Kisabeth was away on business for the day and Mrs. Kisabeth and a little grandson were the only ones there. It seems that the little fellow was the first to see the flames and ran in and told his grandmother. She had only time to get the horses out and the barn was a mass of flames. A number of Hicksville firemen assisted the neighbors in fighting the fire. The barn was filled with hay and grain and all of the farming implements.

GIRL BREAKS AN ARM.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—Beatrice Soule, aged 6, tripped in climbing a fence and fell, breaking her left arm above the elbow. She and her brother and sister were gathering apples along Cedar Creek in North Auburn when a bull showed up and in fleeing the girl met with the mishap.

BIG DRY MAJORITY.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 1.—Penn township, Jay county, voted dry by a majority of 152 votes, the wets getting 100 votes and the drys 352 votes. The voting was a quiet one, simply voters going to the polls and casting their ballots, returning promptly to their work.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 1.—James Crosbie, jr., a well-known young contractor, has been selected by Bluffton republicans as their candidate for mayor. He will be the only candidate on the republican ticket. The matter of effecting a city organization for the party was postponed for a few weeks.

PENNVILLE BOY MISSING.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 1.—Herman White, the 15-year-old son of Harve H. White, of Pennville disappeared from his home last Wednesday and nothing has been heard of him since that time. Mr. White with his son and daughter returned last week from an automobile trip through Illinois, and on Monday offered his son a fine two-year old colt for his own, and the boy said that he did not want it. Wednesday night he packed all his clothes and left the house without any one seeing or hearing him.

EXAMINATION FOR POSTMASTER.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 1.—An examination for a postmaster at Petroleum will be held there Saturday, September 27, according to an announcement received by H. J. Strohm, secretary of the Wells county civil service examining board. The compensation of the postmaster for the last fiscal year was $502. The applicant must be 21 years old and live within the territory supplied by the Petroleum office.

More than 800 Cleveland stores now take precautions which almost totally exclude flies.

400 INJURED IN RIOTS AT DUBLIN

TWO DEATHS RESULT

Dublin, Sept. 1.—Fierce rioting in connection with the tramway strike was renewed Sunday. Hundreds of persons, including thirty constables, were injured. On Saturday sixty or more persons were hurt. All the hospitals are so crowded that many serious cases had to be sent to their homes for treatment. Two deaths resulted from the rioting.

The strike committee, in the interest of peace, had rescinded early in the morning the proposed mass meeting in O'Connell street and substituted a parade from Beresford place to Croydon park at Fairview, a suburb on the north side of the city. The authorities meanwhile had prohibited the mass meeting.

Croydon park belongs to the Transport Workers' union, and a meeting was held there without disorder, but on the return march attempts of the police by charges to disperse the constantly growing crowds led at once to rioting.

The mob was further incensed by the arrest of one of the strike leaders, James Larkin, against whom a warrant had been out for twenty-four hours.

Larkin was on the balcony of a hotel in Sackville street. He was wearing a disguise for the purpose of eluding arrest, but an enthusiastic admirer raised the cry, "Three cheers for Larkin!" The police immediately pounced upon him and violent scenes ensued.

The rioting became general in various parts of the city. The police charged repeatedly with their sticks and this led to pitched battles.

Stones, brickbats and bottles were hurled by the rioters and many persons hurt. More than fifty arrests were made.

The street car service is suspended. The exact number of injured is not known, but including the Saturday victims it is believed it will reach nearly 400.

The lord mayor has announced his intention of demanding a public inquiry into the conduct of the police during the rioting and will send representatives of the city to attend the inquests over the bodies of the two men who have died as a result of injuries they received.

A "hotel" for canaries, built by a Berlin man, has elevators, electric lights, winter garden and fountain.

EASTERN ISLAND IS THE RIDDLE OF THE SOUTH SEAS.

Edward W. Gifford, assistant curator at the Museum of Anthropology, University of California, an authority on Easter Island, and one of the images carved out by the natives; also a portion of one of the ruined platforms.

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—Easter Island, the riddle of the Pacific!

Situated 2,000 miles from the nearest continent, rock-bound and storm-swept, this small, desolate island, the farthest outpost of the Polynesian group, has earned the title of "The Mystery of the Pacific."

This sphinx of the oceans and its nearly extinct inhabitants have proven a baffling problem to scientists and explorers of modern times. It is said by some to be the remnant of a submerged continent and declared by others only to have been inhabited by an advanced race of natives.

The Easter islanders were the only natives of the Pacific islands who had developed the art of writing. Their inscriptions are on wooden tablets and bear a remarkable resemblance to ancient Babylonian. These hieroglyphics have never been deciphered.

This mysterious people was a race of idol worshipers and had mastered to some degree the art of sculpture and masonry.

On the island, which is about fifty square miles in extent, are immense platforms facing the sea, formed of large stones fitted together, some of which weigh five tons, and in places the sea side of the walls is thirty feet high and 200 feet long. On these platforms stand colossal figures carved out of lava from an extinct crater, eight miles away.

On some of these bases were a dozen images, each carved in human semblance, now thrown from their pedestals. The largest are 35 feet high and weigh 50 tons, but the most of them range from 14 to 16 feet. There is as much speculation as to the method of transporting these huge, ungainly idols as there is as to the construction of the pyramids.

There are also remains of stone houses 100 feet long by twenty feet high and it was to discover the origin of these that W. Scoresby Routledge, English explorer, went to the island last year.

Strangely enough these advances toward civilization on Easter island went hand in hand with cannibalism and warfare of the most relentless and bloodthirsty kind.

The question is: Who will solve the riddle of Easter island? Science is waiting for the answer.
